Trade, Price, Tariff and Corn.

Tariff uncertainties have continued suspense for another week so far as legislation is concerned; but the Government crop report last week leaves no doubt that corn has suffered very serious damage. How serious no one yet knows. The crop may equal last year, which was short of the average. If the crop falls below the past two years the result will be serious to the southwestern and trunk line roads and the injury will extend to some of the northwestern lines. In any case, it may be set down as certain that the next year will see no increase in the earning capacity of the roads west of Indiana and north of the Arkansas line, and this region will see no marked revival in business.

In 1891, when our last corn crop of 2,000,000,000 bushels was harvested, one-half the crop, or 1,085,000,000 bushels, was raised by five States—Illinois, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska. In these States there has been a loss of half the corn crop or over, and these States yield the greater share of the export surplus of corn. While the rains of the past forty-eight hours will help corn, they come too late to do much. These States have a population of 10,000,000 and a railroad mileage of 39,000 miles. For this population—one seventh of the country—and this railroad mileage—nearly one-quarter our total railroad system—the most important and valuable crop of the year has been most seriously injured. There will be no month of the coming twelve in which this blow will not be felt by general trade and in railroad mileage.

The wheat crop at 40,000,000 bushels—a current estimate—would also be a short yield; but the surplus is so large, foreign crops so heavy and the demand so light that this is of less importance. The cotton crop promises to be one of the largest known, and the Southern corn crop will also be large. It is altogether probable, therefore that the Southern States will show considerably more signs of returning prosperity tkan any other part of the country. The damage done to the Western corn crop is also so local in its character and time—a month ago a big crop was confidently expected and the damage is nearly all west of the Mississippi—that it is not accompanied, as in 1881 and 1890 by widespread damage to other crops. Taking the country through, outside of the Western corn belt the year is a pretty fair one for the farmers; but, with the exception of corn, food crops, cotton, woo and most other products of the soil will remain at their present low level of price.

Hard Times Affects the Schools.

The Harrisburg Patriot says: Superintendent of Public Instruction Shaeffer is preparing a report on the schools of Pennsylvania, containing recommendations to the legislature for a strict law to enforce compulsory education. The report will also advocate legislation directing a school census. The statistical matter for the report will be collated by Deputy Superintendent Houck, who is expected at the department to-morrow after a month's vacation, which has been spent in educational work in West Virginia.

The recent hard times have seriously affected district schools throughout many of the counties of the state. In some districts the directors have found it necessary to reduce the salaries of teachers, while many of the districts cannot afford to keep the schools running a full term and have knocked off several months. Superintendent Schaeffer will recommend in his report that country district school directors be granted the privilege of closing the schools when the enrollment of pupils is less than ten. There are several places in the state where the population has diminished greatly during the past five years. Some of the schools are still being conducted, and in one place there are only four pupils. It hardly pays the state or district to pay the salary of a teacher under these circumstances.

The report will also advocate legislation directing a school census, which will be the first material step made toward compulsory education. If a census were taken of the school children in the state, together with all the children who do not attend school Superintendent Schaeffer says it would not be long before the legislature could regulate and enact a compulsory education law that would settle forever the much vexed question.

Coming To Their Senses.

The refusal of the Massachusetts State convention of the American Federation of Labor to indorse a report recommending the collective ownership by the people of all means of production and distribution is a welcome evidence that the virus of socilalism has not sunk deeply into the minds of Eastern workingmen. The Chicago convention of the same labor organization gave its consent to such a plank, but the Massachusetts workingmen were too sagacious to follow this leadership.

Some of the speeches made against the resolution weresignificant. One delegate, Mr. Frank K. Foster, said:—

"For the directors of the national socialistic party and its social organ, I brand them and it as the most damnable foes of American trades unionism that exist in the country. I believe that the labor movement of America cannot afford to be sidetracked into the morasses of German doctors of philosophy, who had no conception of this country, of the spirit of its founders or of the spirit that exists on this continent today. You may declaim, and vote, and talk all you will, but every man who owns his little cottage is, according to your view of things, a bloated capitalist to a greater or less extent. There is not a national organization in America today that is socialistic in tendency that is a success. Those who would emancipate labor must teach labor to emancipate itself, not through the State, but by the working people themselves, by voluntary association on trade union lines, and not upon the lines of the socialist's labor party."

It is encouraging to listen to the utterance of such sentiments from labor leader. So many false ideas have been propagated by men who have assumed to instruct the laboring man that it is not strange if the minds ofsome have been misled. Men like Debs and Sovereign have done much mischief in this way. But the workingmen are evidently seeing clearer. The failure of strikers and methods of violence have taught them that it is by educating and elevating themselves that the cause of labor is to be advanced. It is the the Massachusetts and not the Chicago pink that the workingman should follow if he wishes to see the cause he has at heart gain strength and move forward.

No Statement Yet.

While the directory of the Second National bank, of Altoona, is anxious to open the doors of that institution for public business it will not be able to do so yet for the reason that no statement has yet been received from the comptroller of the treasury, to whom Bank Examiner Miller will make his report as soon as he has concluded his work of investigation. The members of the board of directors, as well as the other stockholders, are as much in the dark as to the amount of the shortage as is the general public on the subject. The work of completing the investigation is being closed up as rapidly as possible.

Steps are being taken to ascertain the whereabouts of the defaulting cashier and to all principal points on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts telegrams giving a description of Gardner have been sent. It is hoped that one of these will lead to his being overtaken and brought back to justice.

While it is not known how much cash he took with him, it is stated there was nothing but some silver and pennies left in the safe. Just as soon as it is possible to do so a statement of the affairs of the institution will be made public. In the meantime the depositors are taking the inconvenience as philosophical as possible, feeling sure that although the bank is closed they will finally receive their money.

Down With Hard Times

We have to-day written to the Senators and Representative in Congess urging that the Free Trade Wilson Bill defeated or in any event delay until after the November elections. We wish that every one of our readers will do likewise the same day that this paragraph is read. If Congress can fully appreciate the real sentiment of the country in opposition to Tariff Legislation no bill can pass.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, August 13, 1894.
From Our Regular Correspondent.)

The tariff bill still hangs between life and death, and the democratic doctors are as much in the dark as to which it is to be as the public. As I write the House democratic caucus is in session for the avowed purpose of reaching an agreement to recall the conferees and agreeing to all of the Senate amendments for fear that the Senate will prevent all tariff legislation by laying the whole business on the table until December, which is understood to be the real motive that is behind Senator Hill's resolution, instructing the Senate conferees to report either an agreement or a disagreement and to deliver the tariff bill to the secretary of the Senate for the further action of the Senate thereon.

During the discussion on the resolution it was discovered that there was a wide difference of opinion among Senators, not only as to the present parliamentary status of the bill, but also as to where the actual bill now is. Senator Chandler raised such a shout of laughter, on the floor as well as in the galleries, that Senatorial dignity was for the moment forgotten, when he said: "There seems to be so much doubt as to where the bill is that I suggest that it may be found at the White House." It was a center shot, as Mr. Cleveland has completely dominated the House confer from the day the conference began, compelling Mr. Wilson to report to him and get his orders as often as two andthree times a day, and it is Mr. Cleveland who is most bitterly blamed by the anti-cuckoo democrats because no agreement has been reached by the conferees. It is not quite clear whether it was Mr. Cleveland or the Senate conferees who upset the agreement which was informally made and announced one night last week and formally repudiated the next day. Each side blames the other.

Mr. C. H. J. Taylor, the colored citizen of Kansas who was by Mr. Cleveland made Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia after the Senate had refused to confirm his nomination to a diplomatic position, is in bad odor with the Civil-Service Commission because of his having violated the law in soliciting and receiving money for political purposes from employes of the government. The combined cheek and egotism of this man Taylor may be judged from the following explanation given by him: "Mr Cleveland no doubt thinks there are plenty of white democratic politicians out of office to take care of the politics of the party, without the office-holders taking a hand, but with the negroes it is altogether different. There are so few men among them possessed of sufficient ability to lead that if all the recognized leaders are put into office and are told to shut up and keep out of politics, there would be absolutely no one left to direct affairs among the colored democrats. It is necessary that the men who have the ability to lead should continue in politics." Perhaps a court sentence would reduce the size of Taylor's head.

Speaker Crisp hasn't always been a cuckoo, but there is no discount on his cuckooism at this time. He even carried it to the extent of making a ruling that literally taken would mean that any member of the House would be out of order the moment he uttered a criticism of a member of the Cabinet. This ruling was made when Representative Boutelle, of Me., was making a few remarks concerning the cowardly smothering in the House Foreign committee of his resolution for the recognition of Hawaii and the sneaking manner in which the administration went about announcing its formal recognition of the new republic, after it had been unnecessarily delayed for several weeks.

Secretary Carlisle has issued an order that will certainly make trouble for him if it be strictly enforced. It prohibits the giving out of any information concerning matters pending before Congress without the express permission of the Secretary or one of the assistant Secretaries of the treasury, and the prohibition extends to everybody, including members of Congress and other government officials. To no other department is it necessary to go so often for information, and the first time some Congressman of prominence stops at the Treasury to get some information and runs up against that order Secretary Carlisle may expect a storm in his immediate vicinity.

White for Autumn.

With the coming of cool autumn days white will still be worn, the serge and duck tailor-gowns being so popular that they will not be relegated to the closet till dreary skies are over us. The white crepon house-gowns, some of which are very handsome, will continue to be used all the year, and no prettier fabric can be selected for simple home evening-gowns. Next in choice to the white—both pearl and ivory—are the delicate colors, silver-gray mastic, blue-gray, tan, and old rose. They are simply fashioned, with plain full skirts perhaps a single row of narrow moire ribbon round the bottom, put on plain—and full waists. A ribbon girdle and stock collar of becoming color is all the trimming.—From Review of Fashions," Demorest's Magazine for September. Altogether this is an exceptionally brilliant number, and the beautiful water-color. "Goldenrod," is worth much more to lovers of the beautiful than the subscription price for the whole year, which is only $2. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 E. 14th St., New York.

The lumbermen of the Susquehanna and the farmers and other dwellers on the banks of that variable stream have long been at variance on the subject of the logs and lumber which nearly every high water lets loose to the lumberman's logs, and not always to the gain of the riparian land holder on whose grounds they lodge. The lumbermen complain that their strayed lumber and logs are appropriated by persons lower down the river; that the manufactured lumber is used nearly freely by those who capture it, without regard to the owner's interest in it. The farmers complain that freshets of the Susquehanna which would be harmless if there was nothing but water to reckon with are made excessively destructive by the swift current being loaded with enormous quantities of heavy logs and sawed lumber to batter down every building, tree and bridge which the high water strikes in its course. We published on Thursday an expression of the lumberman's grievances in this matter to escaped logs. We publish to-day a river farmer's statement of the loss forced upon him and other farmers by having their low lands occupied by logs, which must be given up subsequently without pay, while the accompanying debris which is left behind must be removed by the farmers themselves at great cost. There is a grievance on each side; what it is depends on the point of view. The matter is one for legislative regulation and should not be left to be an eternal source of friction and recrimination between lumbermen and the river residents below them.

Varieties of Wheat.

In 1894, forty-four different varieties of wheat were tested at the Pennsylvania State College Agriculteral Experiment Station. They were grown under as nearly similar conditions of soil, exposure, fertilizers, culture, etc., as possible, and the yields given in the table below are computed from careful weights of the product of different plots, made at the time of threshing. Twenty-six of these varieties have been tested for the past five years and the average yield is shown in a carefully prepared table.

In 1894 the Reliable led with a yield of 30 bushels per acre and weighed 61½ pounds per struck bushel. Ontario Wonder is second, with a yield of 36.6 bushels per acre and weighing 57 pounds per struck bushel. Following this in the order named are Rudy, Canada Wonder and Fulcaster.

A far safer measure of the value of the vareties tested is to be found in the column in the above table giving the average yield for the past five years. This shows that seven varieties have averaged over 30 bushels per acre, viz., the Reliable, Valley Fulcaster, Ontario Wonder, Deitz Longberry Red, Wyandotte Red and Curell's Prolific, in the order named.

Pennsylvania Milltiamen.

The reveile has been sounded along the ranks of the National Guard of Pennsylvania for their annual encampment, and this morning's sun will shine down upon the white tents of fifteen regiments, five companies of infantry, three companies of artillery and three companies of cavalry pitched upon the famous battle ground of Gettysburg. According to Adjutant General Greenland's latest report, there will be drawn up for a week of army life in the field the First Brigade, with 2,754 men; the Second Brigade, with 3,170 men and the Third Brigade, with 2,644 men. As Captain Alexander Rodgers, of the Fourth United States Cavalry, reported to the War Department: "The State of Pennsylvania has excellent cause to be proud of its National Guard division. Whenever they have been called upon they have turned out promptly and in large numbers, and have done their duty in a quiet, soldiery way. They are no longer regarded as play soldiers by any one, but as a well organized, well instructed and well disciplined body of volunteer soldiers, who can be depended upon to carry out the orders given them and to preserve the peace."

—The report of Superintendent Gramley published to-day is a very interesting paper and should be read by every person having any interest in public schools.

Pittsburg and the G. A. R.

The national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic which is to be held in Pittsburg next month promises to be one of the most successful of these historic events ever held. From the preliminary arrangements which Pittsburg's citizens of all classes are making, they give promise of being hospitable to a fault—if such a thing could be in such connection—in their entertainment of the good gray old fellows who will journey thitherward from all parts of the union in September.

Pittsburg has a deservedly high reputation for practical patriotism and hospitality to war-time heroes. There will be men at this year's encampment who will visit the Iron City for the first time in thirty years. And in more than one instance they will go there moved by a desire to look on Old City Hall, where they, with tens of thousands of others, were fed and cheered while on their way to the front; or to look upon the Marine hospital buildings, now the West Penn hospital, where journeying painfully from the front, wounded and dis-spirited, they were nursed back to life and usefulness within its walls by Pittsburg women.

There are star points in Pittsburg's history which some of her veteran visitors will no doubt bear of for the first time with surprise. It was on this peninsula point—once the battle ground of European nations, which witnessed the march of empire to the primeval west—that the cannon were forged which won the victory for Commodore Perry on the lake and made possible that brief but brilliant message, "We have met the enemy and they are ours." It was a Pittsburg boat and Pittsburg provisions that went down on tideless waters to Jackson at New Orleans and put vigor and victory into the little army behind their barricade of cotton bales.

Shot and shell, mortar and giant Columbian and turreted monitor were among Pittsburg's contributions to the equipment of the victorious armies of the north. And when "Jeb" Stuart's sentry fires were gleaming along the northern border of Maryland and Morgan's raiders were swinging up the dusty roads of West Virginia on their threatened ride to Lake Erie, Pittsburg's mechanics and merchants and professional men toiled in the trenches around the threatened city, while the children served water to the workers that the rising tide of rebellion might be turned to its ebb on the banks of the Monongahela.

Pittsburg will stand before a glorious background of war-time history as she stretches her toil-stained hands in royal and hearty welcome to the survivors of the great rebellion as they march through her streets to the drum-beat of a new generation.

Instinct Seldom Goes Wrong.

"I had an experience to be remembered once at Moosehead," said Joseph Williams, a laborer on the Lewiston streets. "Three of us were out on the lake one winter's day in January when a storm came up. We had a couple of horses and on sledges made of split burch poles. To get home and settled in the cabins before before night came on was our one wish, but for two hours the icy clouds had been blowing up on the horizon and now came down in a whirl of snow and icy wind. In half an hour we were lost on the ice. Two hours later we crossed our own tracks again and knew that we had been going about in a circle. To stay out there all night would be death, and to keep on traveling about aimlessly meant to fall at last exhausted. Finally as the wind blew keener along the level surface and the snow beat on our bronzed faces with more cutting effect, we called a halt and discussed against the chances. An old guide who was with us suggested that we let the horses take their own way off the lake. It seemed foolish but we agreed. Striking the horses smart cuts with the whip we were surprised to see them turn each to the left and start off east. We thought this would take us further into the lake, but submitted, and in half an hour the trees along the bank loomed up through the storm, and we were safe. A horse knows by instinct what a man doubts and questions in such times."

REED IN THE TOILS.

One of the Principals in the Tarsney Tarring Captured.

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 8.—Dr. J. T. Reed, who was pointed out to the detectives in Denver as one of the principals in the Tarsney outrage by ex-Deputy Sheriff Wilson, after he made his confession, is a prominent mine owner and politician. He was brought to this city last night in company with Wilson by Sheriff Bowers, and bonds were given for his appearance. Wilson was locked up with ex-Deputy Sheriff Parker, who has also made a confession. A document was found on Dr. Reed when he was searched in Denver, which read: "In the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses, whom I have this day chosen my associates and companions, I do solemnly and sincerely promise and swear that I will do my duty at any and all times as may be planned and agreed upon by these, my sworn companions, in exercising just and needed punishment on anarchists and such other other criminals and murderers and strikers in Cripple Creek and their fellow sympathizers, either in high or low positions, the executive of the state not excepted, which we shall deem guilty of crimes against law abiding citizens of the United States, where human lives have been wantonly sacrificed, real and personal property destroyed, and many happy homes broken up.

"I furthermore pledge myself to go when duty summons, and face whatever danger may be encountered in the work assigned me in this order.

"To all of which I pledge my most sacred honor and will assist my brothers in this company to mete out just punishment to any of my companions should they expose any of the secrets whereby any of us many be apprehended, legally or otherwise. To all of which I have hereunto pledged my sacred honor and oath. So help me God."

The grand jury has returned 321 indictments, most of which grew out of the Cripple Creek troubles. The case of the tarrers of General Tarsney have not been passed upon yet.

World's Tandem Record Broken.

Ripon, Wis., Aug. 8.—The world's tandem record of 1.59 4 5 for one mile, held by Cutter and Porter, of Waltham, Mass., was to-day smashed four fifths of a second by J. S. Titus and L. D. Cabanna at the closing of the state meet of the Wisconsin division, League of American Wheelmen and National Circuit races. Maddox was to have made an attempt to lower Sanger's record for one mile unpaced, but was too ill to start. In the three mile handicap class "B," Gehler, of Buffalo, took a tumble, bringing down Taxis and Johnson. Gehler received a bad cut in the head, which will lay him up for some time. Taxis and Johnson were unhurt. Sanger rode in the mile open, but was beaten by Cabanne Murphy, Brown and Taxis. Murphy was disqualified for foul riding. To-morrow class "B" men will go for records, when the meet comes to an end.

Wouldn't Live With Her Husband.

Brockport, N. Y., Aug.—Last night Mrs. Henry Lutz, heard a rap at her back door. She asked who was there. The reply was that it was her husband and that he wished to speak to her. As she opened the door he seized her by the throat and began to drag her towards the canal in the rear of the house, at the same time striking her on the head with a knife, cutting a deep gash above the eyes. Then began a terrible struggle, he trying to cut her throat and she trying to wrest the knife from him. She received a cut near to severing the first finger. At this time her mother appeared on the scene. Lutz struck his mother-in-law in the face, knocking her down and then fled. Lutz is one of the party of firebugs arrested two years ago and was just released from the Elmira reformatory on parole. Mrs. Lutz had refused to live with him since the release, and it is supposed this was the cause of the attempted murder.

Saved By a Girl.

Belmar, N. J., Aug. 8.—W. L. Miller, of New York, was saved from drowning yesterday by Miss Emma C. Lindsay, of Philadelphia. Mr. Miller started to swim across the inlet of Shark river, but was overcome by the undertow and swift currents. He sank and began crying for help when he rose. He was in peril of his life, when Miss Lindsay jumped into a boat and rowed to his rescue. When she reached him she dropped the oars and flung to Miller the hawser of the boat. By this time other young women had summoned several men, who swam out and brought Miller ashore.

Bank Cashier's Downfall.

Altoona, Pa. Aug. 7.—Harry A. Gardner, cashier of the Second National Bank, of this city, has disappeared with at least $20,000 of the bank's money, and he has also, it is reported, taken with him a woman from Philadelphia, whom he has for a year past been maintaining at a hotel, while the bank people have known of the cashier's disappearance since Tuesday morning the matter was kept quiet until this afternoon. The bank is considered perfectly safe.

A Miner Injured.

Houtzdale, Pa., August 10.—Yesterday Edward Craine was seriously injured while jumping from a running train on the Amesville branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. A terrible wreck was but narrowly averted The runaway train was a coal train coming from some mines down a very steep grade and it is usually stopped before reaching the main line, to allow the passenger train to pass it. The crew lost control of the train when they started down the hill, and but for the coolness and promptness of the watchman, at the box, a fatal wreck would have occurred.

The crew all jumped from the train and escaped injury, while Braine, who is a coal miner and was riding home from work, jumped and fell on his head and right shoulder. His head was very badly cut and his skull injured, while his shoulder was disolcated.

HORRIBLE TRAGEDY.

Miss Julia Murphy Shot by Her Lover, W. D. Jenkins.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 8.—The little village of Dhariton, near here, this morning was the scene of a horrible tragedy. At 10.30 o'clock W. D. Jenkins, night baggageman of the Burlington road, at that place, entered the home of his betrothed, Miss Julia Murphy, and, after a bitter quarrel, drew a revolver and shot her. He then turned on her sister, Mrs. Josie Towns, and fired a bullet into her killing her almost instantly. Mrs. Murphy, mother of the girls, rushed into the room, only to meet with a bullet from the revolver held by the apparently insane man. Her injury is such that the physicians have little hope of her life. Jenkins then turned the weapon upon himself and fired a bullet into his brain, dying an hour later.

Jenkins had been drinking heavily for several days and it is believed the murder and suicide was the outcome of a quarrel between himself and Miss Murphy over his intoxicated condition. The woman was highly respected and in good circumstances.

England's Lost Opportunity.

As the fleets of other nations grow in strength English public opinion grows more and more anxious as to the outcome of the next great naval war and the protection of British commerce, whose safety is indispensable to a land which gets two-thirds of its bread and a larger share of the rest of its food by steam and rail.

In the March "North American Review" Sir. G. S. Clark, in command at Maltz, urged a naval union between the United States and England as a guarantee of the peace of the world. In the last "Fortnightly Review," "Nauticus," whose article is printed as if he were one speaking by authority and of a position to give weight to his words and yet render anonymity needful and proper, argues that "the united Anglo Saxon will" of Great Britian and the United States be invoked to declare "we refuse henceforth to acknowledge the right of any civilized power to close her ports or the ports of another power by blockade or otherwise."

Nearly forty years ago the United States offer this and more to Great Britian It was rejected by Lord Palmerston. It will be offered again. In 1856 Great Britian sought to get the United States to agree to the declarations of the Paris Congress against privateering. The four declarations of the Paris Congress were (1), that privateering be abolished: (2), that neutral flags should cover enemy's goods: (3), that neutral goods should not be liable to capture under enemy's flag, and (4), that blockades must be effective. As our privateers in 1812 made prize of 1700 English merchantmen, England was naturally desirous of having us give up privateering.

Secretary Marcy in 1856 and Secretary Seward in 1861 both expressed complete willingness to agree to the "Paris declaration," with an amendment "which should exempt the private property of individuals though belonging to belligerent States from seizure or confiscation by national vessels in maritime war."

This would have given all that is asked now by these English writers. The change would have been of priceless advantage to Great Britian. It was curtly refused. It never will be renewed. The "Paris declaration" did not prevent French cruisers from making prize of rice cargoes in the Franco-Chinese war on the ground that food was contraband of war. England protested but France persisted. In any future war food will undoubtedly be seized as contraband of war under neutral flags. If England had been wise in her generation forty years ago she might have had our assistance in declaring a "peace of the ocean" for all private property. Secure in her naval strength and wedded to naval plunder, she declined. The opportunity will never return.

Rain Interferes at Camp Crawford.

Gettysburg, Aug. 12.—Camp Crawford, of the Pennsylvania National Guard, is not affected with a speck of dust to-night. All day long the rain has been coming down with exasperating persistency and the mud is now shoe top deep on the roads and wagon trails. All ceremonies were ordered off for to-day. Guard was mounted perfunctorily and the evening parade was entirely abandoned. Governor Pattison and General Snowden, however, sat at division headquarters and congratulated each other over the fact that both the weather and the ground should, according to all climatic conditions, now be in good shape for the big reviews of Wednesday and Thursday. The clouds promise to be gone in the morning and then the sun will probably metamorphose the frowning nature of to-day into fine soldier weather.

A TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

William N. Evans Kills His Wife, Her Uncle and Himself.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Jealousy caused a sensational triple tragrdy in this city this morning. Wm. N. Evans, of 4684 Willow street, Frankford, a suburb of this city, shot and killed Louis Hecht, at the latter's home, 1214 Montgomery avenue. He then shot his wife, Eva Evans, through the neck, fatally wounding her, and afterwards killed himself with the same revolver.

Because of Evans' worthlessness, his wife left him six weeks ago and went to the family of her uncle, Louis Hecht. At 7 o'clock this morning Mrs. Hecht was busy preparing breakfast, and her uncle was sitting at a table in the kitchen drinking a bottle of soda water. Evans, who had been hanging about the neighborhood late last night, gained entrance to the rear part of the house. As soon as he entered the kitchen door he began firing at Hecht and his wife. The first shot fired struck Hecht behind the left ear, killed him instantly. Evans then fired another shot at the prostrate man, after which he turned the revolver on his (Evans') wife. The terrified woman started from the house, and, as she rushed past her crazed husband, he sent a bullet into her neck. The woman dropped to the floor. As she lay there Evans sent another bullet at her, which went wide of the mark. He then went to the middle room, in the second story, and, placing the revolver to his left breast sent a bullet through his heart.

Mrs. Evans was taken to the hospital, where the physicians say there are but slight hopes of her recovery.

Evans had always been insanely jealous of his wife and had threatened to kill both her and Hecht on a number of occasions.

Arranging for Encampment.

Philadelphia, Aug. 8.—Details from the various companies of the several regiments composing the First brigade left this morning for Gettysburg to arrange for the encampment of the National Guard. On Friday evening the several regimental commands will leave for the encampment. The first city troops will leave on Saturday morning.

The officers of the commands have issued specific orders relative to their departure, how the men are to be uniformed and with what they are to be provided. All are to assemble at their respective armories in state uniform, heavy marching order.

Inasmuch as the whole National Guard will be encamped this year as a division it will be much more attractive than a brigade or regimental encampment. It will be of interest, too, because it is held this year upon historic grounds, around which cluster so many memories of war. Then, too, arrangements have been completed for the encampment of a large number of regulars, who will leave Washington in time to reach Gettysburg on Friday.

Interest will be heightened by the presence of Governor Pattison and staff, and, possibly of President Cleveland, Major General Schofield, Secretary of War, Lamont, and other high officials.

—Dubois and Tyrone have passed ordinances prohibiting cows from being allowed to run at large on the streets. This is following close in the footsteps of Bellefonte, and is a move that no one will regret in the future.

Santo's Mother Appeals.

Paris, August 8.—The mother of Caserio Santo Geroinmo, the assassin President Carnot, has written to Mme. Carnot, asking her intercede with President Casimir Perier for the life of her son.

The mother has received a letter from Caserio, in which he says:

Dear Mother: I write you a few lines to inform you that I have been condemned to death. What must you think of me? You cannot think that I am an assassin and a malefactor. You know my good heart and my tenderness was always shown to you. Well, my heart is the same to-day. If I have committed this act it was simply becuse I was tired looking on such an infamous world. I thank the priest for coming to me; but I do not desire to confess.

I salute you, my brothers, sisters, and others with a thousand kisses.

Mrs. Mary A. Tupper has been released, at Wilton, Me., from the custody of extreme Female Weakness, which kept her a prisoner in bed unable to walk. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made the change. She advises all sick women to take this valuable medicine, and be thankful for their lives, as she is for hers. It costs only a dollar at any druggists, and the result is worth millions.

Had Money Concealed.

Nathan L. Irvin, at one time a resident of Renovo, died some time ago at Atlanta, Ga., of paralysis. His remains were brought to Newberry for interment. Shortly before he died he attempted to make known certain facts to those around him, but could not make himself understood. On Thursday, in his room at Atlanta, were found hidden $3,000 in silver and $500 in gold certificates, which relatives of the deceased will now receive.

—The soldier boys of Company B are now in the midst of the active duties of camp life.

—The Jersey Shore railroaders' picnic was not held at Hecla park today, it having been postponed.

—Quite a good sized crowd will go from Bellefonte to State College this evening and indulge in a social dance at the University Inn.

—Most all of the Bellefonters who went to Atlantic City via. the P. R. R. on the 2nd instant have returned home, the most of them returning on Friday.

—E. M. Beale, Esq., of Lewisburg, Editor Harter and Dr. Dartt, were out woodcock hunting on Tuesday and the trio succeeded in bagging only four birds.

—The ladies of the United Brethren church will hold a festival in the vacant store room next the Watchman office, on Saturday evening, August 18th. Everybody is invited to attend.

—Pitcher Hodson made a glorious record in his first game pitched for Boston against Philadelphia yesterday, holding his opponents down to nine scattered hits and winning the game 11 to 2.

—While bathing in the creek near his home one day last week a young son of ex-Register John A. Rupp, of Oak Hall, had his leg broken. The lad was under a bridge that was being repaired when a heavy timber fell on him.

—At the civil service examination on Wednesday five applicants were examined for positions in the Bellefonte postoffice. There were Miss Carrie Atwood and Mary S. Graham, and Morris Kelley, Ferd Baum and Charles Garis, the three first clerks and the latter two for carriers.

—On account of the National Guard encampment at Gettysburg the Pennsylvania railroad company will sell excursion tickets from the 11th to the 15th inclusive, at one way fare for the round trip, namely $5.22. This will afford anyone desiring to attend a golden opportunity to do so cheaply.

—Thursday proved to be a most delightful day for the Logan picnic, after the one severe shower in the morning The crowd in attendance was unusually large and taxed the accommodation capacity of the Central railroad to its utmost limit, they being obliged to run more extra trains than were scheduled in order to handle the crowd, and the last train did not arrive in Bellefonte until two o'clock this morning.

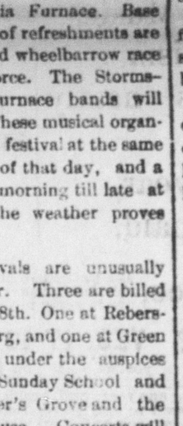
—A harvest home and basket picnic is announced for Saturday next at Baileyville, near Pennsylvania Furnace. Base ball and a big variety of refreshments are on the string. The old wheelbarrow race will be there in full force. The Stormstown and Penna. Furnace bands will furnish the music. These musical organizations will conduct a festival at the same place on the evening of that day, and a big time from early morning till late at night is promised if the weather proves good.

—Picnics and festivals are unusually numerous this summer. Three are billed for Saturday, August 18th. One at Rebersburg, one at Aaronsburg, and one at Green Grove. The latter is under the auspices of the Green Grove Sunday School and will be held in Stover's Grove and the Cross Roads school house. Concerts will be given during the afternoon by the Farmers' Mills Cornet Band and a large chorus of trained voices, accompanied by a first class orchestra. Several prize contests will take place in the evening. All the refreshments of the season will be served.

The Human Electrical Forces!

How They Control the Organs of the Body.

The electrical force of the human body, as the nerve fluid may be termed, is an especially attractive department of science, as it exerts so marked an influence on the health of the organs of the body. Nerve force is produced by the brain and conveyed by means of the nerves to the various organs of the body, thus supplying the latter with the vitality necessary to insure their health. The pneumogastric nerve, as shown here, may be said to be the most important of the entire nerve system, as it supplies the heart, lungs, stomach, bowels, etc., with the nerve force necessary to keep them active and healthy. As will be seen by the cut the long nerve descending from the base of the brain and terminating in the bowels is the pneumogastric, while the numerous little branches supply the heart, lungs and stomach with necessary vitality. When the brain becomes in any way disordered by irritability or exhaustion, the nerve force which is supplied is lessened, and the organs receiving the diminished supply are consequently weakened.



Physicians generally fail to recognize the importance of this fact, but treat the organ itself instead of the cause of the trouble The noted specialist, Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B., has given the greater part of his life to the study of this subject, and the principal discoveries concerning it are due to his efforts.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, the unrivaled brain and nerve food, is prepared on the principle that all nervous and many other difficulties originate from disorders of the nerve centers. Its wonderful success in curing these disorders is testified to by thousands in every part of the land.

Restorative Nervine cures sleeplessness, nervous prostration, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is free from opiates or dangerous drugs. It is sold on a positive guarantee by all druggists, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid.

AN EARLY-MORNING BLAZE

In the Clothing Store of Montgomery & Co., Allegheny St.

It was just a few minutes before two o'clock Friday a. m. when the thunderous fog horn on the electric light station commenced to blow and sounded the alarm for the South ward. It was but a few minutes until the whole town was aroused and the fire companies were on the scene of the blaze, which proved to be in Montgomery & Co.'s clothing store, on Allegheny street. The fire originated in the south east corner of the basement and burned through into the window above the flames soon devouring most everything therein, and running up the dry woodwork, had burned a hole in the ceiling before they were extinguished. They also broke out through the window and burned the awning on the outside. This was the extent of the damage done by the flame, as the prompt work of the firemen proved very effective and the fire was extinguished before it had gained sufficient headway as to be uncontrollable. Had the flames had but fifteen minutes more of a start before they were discovered, the conflagration would have proved a most disastrous one, and it is possible may have destroyed the entire Crider's Exchange before they could have been checked.

Although the damage by fire and water was not so great, yet the entire stock was badly damaged by smoke, so that the loss will be quite heavy. Mr. Frank Montgomery being absent at Atlantic City, we cannot give any figures as to the probable loss, but it will be well up in the hundreds, if not thousands. Of course, the stock is fully insured. How the fire originated is of course, a mystery. Some think it was the work of an incendiary, while others are inclined to think it was caused by the crossing of the electric light wires, which were pretty well bunched up in that corner. However, be the cause what it may, it is probably one of those fires the origin of which will always remain a mystery. Word of the fire was telegraphed Mr. C. F. Montgomery this morning and the store is closed, awaiting his arrival and the appearance of the insurance adjuster, to settle the loss and amount of damage. Aside from Montgomery & Co., the stock in Zeller's drug store and Harry Schreyers carpet store were more or less damaged by smoke.

NOTES OF THE FIRE.

The last train from the Logan's picnic pulled into Bellefonte just as the fire alarm was sounded.

Both fire companies rendered good service, but the Undine boys were first on ground, and had the first stream on.

Although Prof. Johnstonbaugh was the first to discover the fire Barber Beck assisted very much in attracting the crowd by the cry of fire in his stentorian tones.

A ten year-old boy walked into the open cellar way and got a bad tumble headlong down into the cellar. Strange to say, the lad was not injured a particle, although he was pretty badly frightened.

A Store Robbed.

An attempt to rob Lucas Brothers' store at Howard, Pa., was made Thursday night about one o'clock. The robbers procured the tools from the blacksmith shop of William Welsh, of that borough. They bored two holes in the window shutter, at the rear and one in the front door, leaving the bit sticking in the hole. Preparatory to beginning the job they extinguished the street lamp in front of the store. James, a son of Mr. H. T. Lucas, who just returned from the big picnic at Hecla park, discovered something wrong at the store and called his cousin, Thomas A. Lucas, and together they frightened the robbers, who made a hasty retreat, pursued by two bullets from the revolver of T. A. Lucas, and leaving Mr. Welsh's tools behind.

—An exchange says that no matter how hard a man may struggle to do right there is always some sneaking scoundrel, some loathsome reptile, some pimple on the face of nature, some wart on the hand of destiny trying to draw him down. Many a man fails, not from lack of merit, but from lack of appreciation by his fellow men. Failure in life is loss of confidence in one character. When you see a man faltering, take him by the hand and help him up; when you see him climbing, cheer him on, that he may reach the top and stand on the summit of success, providing you believe the man to be honest.

A New Bridge

Some weeks ago S. D. Ray, Col. W. F. Reynolds and Robert Valentine were appointed by Judge Furst to examine the condition of the Lamb street bridge that crosses Spring Creek. According to their appointment they met and performed their duty. Some time ago the bridge was condemned by the borough authorities and it is a settled fact that the viewers have followed in their footsteps. The bridge is certainly unsafe and the recommendation of a new one is not out of place. Since the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania has been making improvements in that vicinity of the borough it is high time that the borough council take some definite action as to putting a neat and substantial bridge across the creek at this point. Beside the viewers Frank Adams, one of the county commissioners, and D. F. Fortney, Esq., were present. The viewers will file their report some time next week.

Picnic at Martha.

The M. E. Sunday school of Martha will hold their annual picnic on the old grounds near the church Saturday, Aug. 18th. A game of ball will be played on the ball ground between the Port Matilda and Martha amateur ball teams. Everybody and all their friends are cordially invited.

Former Blair Countian Dead.

James Duncan, Esq., an old and highly esteemed resident of Philipsburg, Centre county, was taken ill with dysentery a little over a week ago and died on Tuesday evening at 4 o'clock.

The deceased was born at Duncansville, Blair county, Pa., on April 8, 1818, and was consequently aged 76 years and 4 months. He spent several years of the earlier part of his life in Sinking Valley, removing to Bald Eagle, Centre county, about the year 1857. He was twice married, first to Caroline Copelin, July 4, 1846, and second to Catharine Steward, February 17, 1870. By his first marriage, eight children were born to him, four of whom are still living, as follows: David, of Livingston, Montana; Richard, of Sandy Ridge, and Electa, wife of William Robinson, and Miss Anna, both of Philipsburg. He is also survived by his wife and two step-daughters—Mary C. Steward, of Philipsburg, and Lucy E. Miller, of this city. About the year 1881 he removed to Philipsburg, where he has resided ever since. He had served as justice of the peace for about thirty years, and was well posted in matters of law and exceedingly careful in his decisions. In early life he professed conversion and united with the Methodist Episcopal church. He served as class leader for many years, and held other important offices in the church, always proving most faithful in the discharge of his duties.

The funeral took place yesterday, the interment being made at Bald Eagle.

Death of Little Martha Keller.

Last Sabbath little Martha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, of Bellefonte, became quite ill with cholera infantum. Everything of a medical nature was done to relieve the child's suffering, but in vain and she died Thursday morning at about 11 o'clock, aged 4 months had several days.

Just as the life of the little girl and departed Mr. Keller received word that his father, Col. D. S. Keller, was dying In this hour of bereavment the Keller families have the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.

Suicide at Madera.

The lifeless body of Robert Whiteside, a resident of Madera was found in the creek near that place at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. As no marks of violence were observed on his body it is supposed that he committed suicide. He had been seen about the town during the morning. No reason can be assigned for having committed the rash act. He was aged about 40 years, single and lived with four brothers and one sister.

Killed at Westport.

On Thursday William Neill, engineer of a saw mill at Westport, about six miles above Renova, was struck on the breast with a piece of slab thrown from the fast revolving saw and so badly injured internally that he died on Friday morning. Mr. Neill was a native of Buffalo Run, this county, his mother and several brothers residing there. His remains were taken through Bellefonte over the Bellefonte Central Railroad to Filmore, where interment was made Saturday morning.

Thinning out the Ranks.

The veterans of the late war are passing away rapidly. The report of the G. A. R. shows that 7,002 members died in the twelve months, a larger majority than that of any previous year. From the very nature of things, the ranks of the old soldiers must suffer more depletion as year after year goes by, until all have gone; but their deeds will ever live in the memory of a grateful nation.

Big Picnic.

The Odd Fellows will hold a big picnic near Rebersburg, on Saturday, August 18. Lodges from different parts of the county will be present, to participate in the parade. A game of ball is billed for the afternoon between the Centre Hall and Rebersburg teams.

WILL PAY DOLLAR FOR DOLLAR.

The Second National Bank Will Not Allow Its Depositors to Suffer.

Bank Examiner Miller and his assistants worked all day and up until late last night on the accounts of the Second National bank, but no statement as to whether or not there was a deficit, followed the stop for a night's rest in the investigation, which is not yet finished.

It is believed there is some money missing, but just what amount cannot be roughly estimated. The depositors in the bank are safe, however, as it was authoritatively stated last night that the concern would resume business as soon as possible, and that is in the very near future, and would pay all its patrons dollar for dollar. This statement comes from a most reliable source and is absolutely true.

Yesterday developed some new facts as to which direction the missing cashier, Harry A. Gardner, has taken. Mr. Chas. T. Jacobs, who was on his way to Pittsburg on Monday night on fast line, met Mr. Gardner on the train. He first saw him at Greensburg, where the smoking car was detached from the train for repairs. Among the passengers who came out of the car before it was cut off, was Mr. Gardner, who spoke to Mr. Jacobs as he went past and took the second seat behind him. After a time Mr. Jacobs got up and went into a rear car. As he past Mr. Gardner both men bid each the time of day the second time. Mr. Jacobs also remarked: "You must be taking a trip?" "I am," answered Mr. Gardner, smiling.

At Pittsburg both men again met in the Union depot, where they both took lunch being not more than three or four feet apart. Mr. Gardner was attired in a light suit, wore a straw hat and carried either a package or a satchel. He was last seen standing along side of a train bound for Fort Wayne.

The men who endorsed Mr. Gardner's bond as cashier of the Second National bank were ex-Judge James Gardner and his son, Thaddeus Gardner, both deceased.—Altoona Times.

Save the Potato Crop.

The fact that the farmers of the United States cannot cultivate and produce potatoes sufficient to meet the consumption of the people of this country, should be an inducement to make a greater effort to increase the production, than has been done heretofore. When we realize the fact, that more than three million bushels of potatoes, are annually imported to the seaport cities of the United States from Europe, is it not time that something more should be done to increase the crops throughout the United States. An average crop of potatoes is more profitable to a farmer than the cultivation of wheat at present prices. When this matter is brought to a farmers notice, he answers, that a crop of wheat is more certain to grow than a crop of potatoes. This may be true to a certain extent. Whose fault is it? Is it the fault of the potato or the farmer? Our knowledge is, that the farmer, who learns how to cultivate potatoes and takes proper care of his crop, while it is growing, generally succeeds in harvesting good crops. Those who plant the potatoes, and allow the crop to take care of itself, until ready to harvest, as they do wheat, seldom realize sufficient potatoes to pay for their trouble. For the benefit of our farmer readers, we copy the following article from an exchange, showing farmers how to take care of their growing potatoe crops. Inspect your growing crops at once if you want to prevent the blight.

"Potato vines are attacked by two distinct blights, the early and the late. The hot, close weather of the past month has been especially favorable for the latter. This blight attacks the vines in August and September and spreads rapidly, being soon followed by rotting of the tuber. No cure is known for blight but many preventives are in common use of which none is better than the Bordeaux mixture. The decease spreads with such alarming rapidity that in 48 hours a field of luxuriant green leaves becomes black and drooping rotting with a characteristic offensive odor.

The disease on the leaf is a purplish black spot, which rapidly increases in size until it spreads over the entire leaf. For the prevention of the disease the Bordeaux mixture is prepared by dissolving five pounds of copper sulphate in a clean wooden or brass vessel. Slake five pounds of fresh, unslaked lime in another vessel, then dilute with water to a thin whitewash and strain it into the copper solution. Stir thoroughly and add water to make about 50 gallons of the mixture. This would be an ordinary barrel full. Strong copper sulphate alone will kill the leaves. The lime neutralizes and prevents this caustic action. If not sure that the lime is good or that enough has been added, the mixture should be tested be pouring a few drops of solution of ferrocyanide of potassium (1 oz. in 4 oz. of water) into the mixture. If there is not enough of lime in the mixture this solution will at once turn brick red, but if enough lime has been added there will be no change of color. To kill the potato beetle, add one half pound of Paris green, thoroughly mix and spray.

Various pumps for this purpose are on the market. For a large patch, a barrel with pumps may be set in an ordinary farm wagon, but for a small area the knap sack will do effective work."

Intemperance and Indigestion

Intemperate eating and drinking is the chief cause of indigestion. Few people starve to death; many kill themselves by eating and drinking. The stomach to be strong, sound and healthy must have time to dispose of one meal before any other food is imposed on it. There are two elements in the food eaten—nutritious and non-nutritious. The first is digested and produces nourishment; the other, not being digestible, is rejected. From five to seven hours should elapse between meals; furthermore there must be no eating between meals for good health and good appetite.

Mill Changes Hands.

The Phœnix planing mill to-day changes hands again, Messrs. John P. Harris and W. T. Speer retiring from the ownership, which has been purchased outright by John Ardell, Jr., the former proprietor. All the friends of this latter gentleman will be glad to hear that he is again at the head of this prosperous establishment. He is an old lumberman and will undoubtedly win the success he so much deserves.

SHORTAGE OF COKE.

A Number of Industries Awaiting a Supply of the Needful.

Youngstown, O., August 13.—The Valley furnacemen are complaining of the difficulty in securing coke, and a number of furnaces now out will be put in blast as soon as the owners have the assurance that they can be run. The furnacemen claim that while they have always been good customers of the coke producers, and paid their bills promptly, that when there is any shortage in the output of coke, they are the first to suffer by reason of the supply being cut off. A feeling is gaining ground in favor of organizing an independent coke company that will at all times supply their needs.

The Phœnix furnace of the Brown-Bonnell company, which has been out of blast for eighteen months has been overhauled, many improvements made and it will be lighted during the week if a supply of coke is received.

The Andesite Iron company, at Hazelton, has lighted its furnaces, and it is running satisfactorily to the company, the product being used in supplying the Hazelton iron mills. A sufficient supply of coke has been received to insure a steady run of several months.

Messrs. Goldsmith and Loneburg, well known capitalists of Portland, Ore., will be the guests of the chamber of commerce this week. They have decided to erect a large tin plate mill, and the advantages of shipping facilities and accessibility of markets have caused them to look favorably upon this manufacturing centre as a location for the plant. They will manufacture only tin plate.

It is expected that the annual stock taking at the mills of the Brown-Bonnell Iron company will be completed to-morrow night, and work will be resumed in all departments Wednesday morning.

Rogers Evans and Vice President McEvey, of the Amalgamated association, addressed a large labor mass meeting on Saturday evening, the latter stating that organized labor had done more to bring humanity together than all the churches. The labor unions will form a trades council Wednesday evening.

Epidemic Of Suicide.

Bradford, Pa., Aug. 13.—Bradford and vicinity just now is having a season of the suicide epidemic. Last Monday Hazel Kirk, a New ell avenue Madalene, took enough morphine to kill a horse. A clever physician and a stomach pump brought her back to life. On Tuesday Mrs. George Fisher, of Washington street, thought that her husband did not love her and she shot herself in the breast. She is now hovering between life and death.

At Mt. Sewett, on Saturday, James Donovan, crossed in love, took to drink and then the Keeley cure. After a short season of sobriety drink followed and he took laudanum and killed himself. Yesterday, at Mt. Jewett, Mrs. Augustus Nelstrom, aged 25 years, who has been nursing grief for some time, became despondent and, in a fit of temporary aberration, shot herself in the heart with a revolver, from which she expired.

Did Not Barter Themselves.

Philipsburg, Pa., Aug. 13.—Twenty-five of the lately imported men at Eureka No. 7 mine, quit work last Saturday because the company refused to permit beer within the enclosure.

Refusing to pay their fare on the cars they were ejected and their baggage put off. They were attacked by a large number of the old employees and many severely injured. They finally escaped over the mountains.

Big Wheat Crop.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 13.—An editor, who has made an extensive tour through the northwest, estimates that the spring wheat crop in Minnesota and the Dakotas will be the second largest which the three states have produced. He figures the wheat yield of these states at 125,000,000 bushels, of which 50,000,000 bushels each are given to Minnesota and North Dakota and the remainder to South Dakota, on account of the drought. The other two states have apparently not been sufferers from the drought except as to the corn. The wheat crop of these three states last year was 120,000,000 bushels, against 76,000,000 bushels estimated by the government. Average acreage yields of twenty to forty bushels of wheat are coming in from Minnesota and North Dakota.

At Camp Crawford.

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 13.—Camp Crawford of the State National Guard is in the grip of another rainy day. The clouds that last evening gave promise of departure are still strictly in evidence, and soldier life is consequently unpleasant. The main reason why the rain and cloudiness is regretable is because to-day the orders are for the inspection by Adjutant General Greenland. The second brigade, under General Wylie, was the first to undergo the ordeal. General Wylie paraded the Tenth regiment at 6 a. m. and the others at 7, 8 and 9 a. m. and 2 p. m., respectively. They passed away creditably, considering the condition of the ground and atmosphere.

At 3 o'clock General Gobin, a third brigade, ordered out his first regiment and before the entire brigade will have passed muster.

To-morrow at 6 a. m. the first brigade will have its turn.

Guard mount was performed at the various brigade headquarters at 8 o'clock this morning and the regiments of General Schall's command were ordered out for battalion drill. The camp life is very quiet and nothing startling has occurred.

Lieutenant Bell, commanding the regular cavalry, has decided to give an exhibition drill of his troop every day for the benefit of the state squadron, and, as this troop is one of the most proficient in the army, it will be of immense interest to the militia.

A Mysterious Death.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 13.—Mrs. Ellsworth Maltby, wife of a New York banker, died at the old family homestead on Grand avenue, this evening. The circumstances surrounding the death of the woman were somewhat peculiar, and it is thought that she committed suicide. Mrs. Malthy was shot about 11 o'clock this morning. At that time her husband and his valet were sitting on the piazza of the mansion. The husband of the deceased woman was asked this evening regarding her death and declined to say anything beyond this:

"My wife was cleaning a firearm this morning when it was accidently discharged. The ball entered her body and she was injured."

Mr. Maltby declined to discuss the accident, which resulted in his wife's death, but it is understood that they have not lived happily together for several years. It is stated here to-night that Mr. Maltby was for many years an intimate friend of the late "Jim" Fisk, and was a prominent figure in the trial of "Ed" Stokes for his murder. His father left him a large fortune in valuable real estate in this city, which has gradually melted away until now little remains.

A Great Explosion.

In these days of gunpowder, dynamite, giant powder, and the like, explosions are no rarity, but the greatest explosion of modern times is, without doubt, that of the "old-school" idea that Consumption is incurable. Thousands of lives have been sacrificed to this mistaken notion. Modern research has established the fact that Consumption is a scrofulous disease of the lungs, and that there is one remedy which will positively eradicate it from the system—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Of course, there were in the olden times many who would have pronounced modern explosives instruments of witchcraft; but there are, fortunately, few to-day who do not acknowledge that the "Golden Medical Discovery" is the one sovereign remedy for all scrofulous diseases, and Consumption is one of them.

Back from a Cold Country.

St. John's, N. F. Aug. 13.—The steamer Grand Lake arriving from Labrador on Sunday, bringing the hunting and exploring party, consisting of Messrs. Lineaweavers, Tenn, Titus and Root, who were landed from the steamer Milranda, carrying the Cook Arctic expedition. They report that other exploring parties were north of them. The Steamer reports quantities of ice along the coast. The captain thinks that the whole northern sea is covered with icebergs, rendering Arctic navigation dangerous. It is reported that the steamer Princess Alice, with three of her crew, had been lost.

PULLMAN'S LAST ACT.

He Will Turn His Starving Tenants Into the Streets.

Chicago, August 12.—Mr. Pullman has decided to turn his striking tenants into the streets. He made up his mind yesterday to evict them from their homes this week. The legal papers which must be served on the starving strikers as a preliminary to setting their goods into the street were understood to be in course of preparation in Attorney Ranuel's office under postive orders of Mr. Pullman.

Second Vice President Wickers confirmed the report that the tenants would be put out of the houses as soon as the company could get rid of them.

Mr. Wickes admitted Friday afternoon that something of the kind would have to be done if the strikers who are living in company houses did not return to work on Friday. Mr. Pullman visited the shops. He evidently determined to get rid of his unprofitable tenants and settle the question himself. There are now nearly 400 vacant houses of various kinds in Pullman, as many, perhaps as will be needed by the new men for some weeks.

Should the company carry out its programme in this regard, and there is little doubt that every striker who does not go to work will be put out, town of Pullman would be almost wholly depopulated. It would be, say those who have watched the course of this whole trouble, the most cruel eviction this country has ever seen, if not one of the most heartless recorded in history. It seems inevitable that no less than 5,000 men, women and children will be turned into the streets. About 1,500 of the strikers are tenants of the Pullman company, most of them men with large families. Few if any of them have paid a dollar of rent since the strike was declared. Most of them are on the point of starvation and so poor that they could not pay an expressman for hauling their goods out of town.

The strikers have steadily avoided discussing the possibilities of eviction, although they were warned that it would surely come. They have been hoping the trouble would be settled in some way that would not drive them from the town. The situation at Pullman yesterday kept on getting worse for the strikers who still hold out. Nearly 1,000 new men were employed from down town, and 160 additional ones engaged to report to-morrow. The company will then have nearly 1,700 or within 300 of the number it expects to work this winter. The large proportion of them are new comers.

"I don't like the breath of that stove!" exclaimed little Ethel one day when the gas was escaping from the sitting room stove. Coal-gas is like the "perfume of India" compared with the breath of a person afflicted with catarrh, but among many other symptoms the sense of smell is often deadened, so the sufferer is unconcious of the offensiveness of his presence. Why anyone will endure such a painful, dangerous and offensive disease, when Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy—costing only 50 cents—will cure the most stubborn case, is one of the many mysteries. The proprietors are so confident of the success of this Catarrh Remedy, that they offer to forfeit $500 for any case of Catarrh they cannot cure. It would be suicide for their remedy, for then to make this offer, unless they understood its exact powers.

The Social Economist for August opens with a statesmanlike and profound review of the currency question. It shows that Mr. Walker's bill to retire the greenback currency and substitute certain other forms of paper money in its stead needs to be made more radical, so that the paper currency shall be issued by the banks only and redeemed in coin. It then proposes such a plan for the issue of notes by banks only, and for their daily redemption in coin at a central agency, which is to be either a federal bank, a national association of all the banks, or a bank note clearing house. It then proposes a plan for having the bank issue and redeem silver coin as a secondary coin in aid of gold, receiving a small commission on their issue, and each bank redeeming all the silver coin it issues, in gold at par when presented in sums of five dollars. The silver coins are to contain a weight five grains less than would make their bullion value equal to their coin value. As fast as they became worth more than their coin value, they would of course be melted for this additional value, and the banks issuing them would thus be relieved of the necessity of redeeming such as through rise in value would be melted. Thus bankers, wage-earners, retailers and jewelers would be interested in circulating silver, and both the money metals would be fully utilized.

The Social Economist's review of current economic phenomena, of new economic works and of economics in the magazines, brings under pungent editorial discussion hundreds of topics which are passing through current literature.

Home and Abroad.

It is the duty of everyone, whether at home or traveling for pleasure or business, to equip himself with remedies which will keep up strength and prevent illness, and cure such ills as are liable to come upon all in everyday life. For instance, Hood's Sarsaparilla as a general tonic, and to keep the blood pure and less liable to absorb the germs of disease, will be well nigh invaluable. Change of drinking water often causes serious trouble, especially if one has been used to spring water in the country. From a few drops to a teaspoonful of Hood's Sarsaparilla in a tumbler of water will prevent the water having any injurious effect.

Hood's Vegetable Pills, as a cathartic, cause no discomfort, no disturbance, no loss of sleep, but assist the digestive organs, so that satisfactory results are effected in a perfectly natural and regular manner.

VERY LITTLE NEW.

Only One New Ripple Regarding the Second National Bank.

No statement has yet appeared concerning the condition of affairs in the Second National bank. The directors are as much in the dark as ever and the only man who may be in possession of the key to the situation is Bank Examiner Miller. As he hasn't given that key away as yet the condition of the bank is not known. From surface indications, however, it may be argued that affairs are not nearly so bad as reported, several of the directors appearing much easier in mind last evening than for some days past.

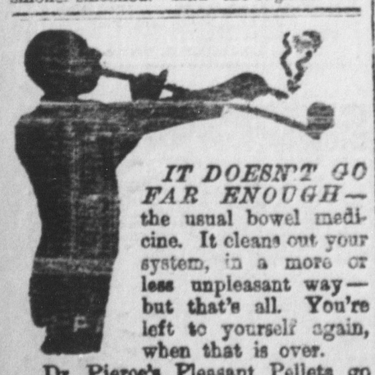
The only ripple of gossip yesterday was regarding the recent county loan of $63,000 negotiated for the payment of the indebtedness caused by the outstanding court house bonds. There are two sides to this argument. To begin at the first, however, the loan has been negotiated and has been placed by Townsend & Co., in the Western National bank of Philadelphia. The company named is the one which took up the loan and deposited the money in the said bank, the sum with accrued interest being $63,560.

The loan appears to have been negotiated by Missing Gardner, to having been instructed as that official of the Second National bank to do so by a resolution of the county commissioners. The deal was completed and on Tuesday last after the disappearance of Gardner a telegram was received from Townsend, Wheelen & Co., stating that $63,560 had been placed in the Western National bank of Philadelphia in payment for the bonds. On Wednesday a letter came from the bank saying the money had been placed there and had been put to the credit of the Second National bank of Altoona. Up to this point all stories agreed, but after this opinions differ.

It is alleged, that Banker Examiner Miller said this money must go in on the credit account of the bank and that he must take the books as found. Such being the case the fund would therefore be tied up until the bank resumed business. On the other hand, a county official said last evening that the money in the Philadelphia bank did not belong to the Second National of Altoona, as the latter had not completed its duty as agent. That it had been simply an agent in the negotiation of the loan and that the sum of money should be turned over to the county. It has not been deposited in the bank by the county for the reason that no proper county official had received it and of course could not deposit it, and further that it was an entry made after the Examiner Miller had began his examination of the books. In this connection he also stated that the county was not in the least embarrassed by the tieing up of the bonds. They had been issued for a special purpose and their use was not yet necessary.—Altoona Tribune.

Might Have Been Worse!

DuBois Courier: Saturday evening the mail train from Rochester and Buffalo, due here at 5.15 was three and a half hours late. The cause of the irregularity was a wreck at Leroy, on the Rochester division, in which a very serious disaster was averted by the coolness of Engineer Brooks. The B., R. and P. is crossed at grade by the Erie at Leroy and as the passenger train was starting over the crossing an Erie freight train commenced backing towards it. Engineer Brooks saw that a broadside collision was inevitable and used the air breaks instantly and stopped his train in position to receive the force of the shock. on the baggage car. The express, mail and baggage men escaped the results, but the news agent was very seriously injured. The baggage car was badly wrecked and the front end of the smoker smashed. Had the engineer not acted promptly the ladies' coach would have been upon the crossing when the shock came, and instead of the above there would have been a terrible disaster to report.



IT DOESN'T GO FAR ENOUGH—the usual bowel medicine. It cleans out your system, in a more or less unpleasant way—but that's all. You're left to yourself again, when that is over.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets go farther, give better help, do more good. They have a tonic or strengthening effect on the lining membranes of the intestines. This assists and increases the natural action of the bowels. By this means, they permanently cure Constipation, Biliousness, Jaundice, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Dizziness, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and every like disorder.

They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts—the smallest, the easiest to take, and the easiest in the way they act. Guaranteed to give satisfaction, in every case, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

ALL GONE—every vestage of Catarrh when Doctor Sage's Catarrh Remedy is used. It's positive and performs permanent cures. Only 50 cents.

Growing Old Gracefully.

"What a lovely old lady," I heard a man remark, at the opera, lately. "She's quite as beautiful as any girl in the house. Such color and complexion is rarely seen in a woman past forty."

Indeed, the woman of whom he spoke was lovely. Her face was clear and smooth, her cheeks, fresh and rosy, her eyes bright with perfect health and the enjoyment of life. She had passed the critical "change of life" without falling into "the sere and yellow leaf" as most American women do. How had she succeeded in doing this? Simply by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription at a time when nature stood in need of some assistance. She had taken it at the right time. In doing this she was wise. Wiser than most women who "trust to luck" in getting through the critical and trying period safely. This standard remedy is just what is needed at such a time. It is, from girlhood to old age, woman's best friend. In all diseases peculiar to the sex, it accomplishes what no other remedy does—a cure. Take it, woman when life's autumn begins, and "grow old gracefully." Your money back if it doesn't help you.

In Other Counties.

Huntingdon Local News, August 13: Rev. J. Ellis Bell, of the Eighth Avenue Methodist Episcopal church of Altoona, delivered two very able sermons in the First Methodist church here yesterday. Mr. Bell is one of the most earnest ministers in the conference.

John Coulter, a well known citizen of McConnellstown, Huntingdon county, who had been employed on the railroad for many years, died Sunday morning, after a lingering illness. He was aged 62 years and leaves a wife and five children, all married but one daughter.

Miss White, a medical missionary from Bombay, India, will speak on "Missionary Day," Thursday, August 16, at 3.10 o'clock p. m., on the Juniata valley camp ground. All who are interested in the spread of the gospel in foreign lands, or would like to hear of the result of woman's work, or of its need, are most cordially invited to attend.

Sometime Sunday night burglars effected an entrance into Forseman & Kelsey's mill at Flemington, Clinton county, by forcing off the inside latch of the front door. Then they bored a hole through the steel door of the safe and blew it open. The drawer of the safe was emptied of its contents, but the burglars only secured a few postage stamps and small change, amounting to less than a dollar for their trouble.

A Dispatch to the Philadelphia Press from New Bloomfield, dated August 12, says: The term of court which closed in Perry county yesterday developed a queer state of affairs in the legal circle here. In the criminal court one lawyer was convicted of assault and battery and breach of the peace, another of embezzlement, two others had true bills found against them for embezzlement, one justice of the peace was convicted of malfeasance in office and two constables were returned for drunkenness and neglect of duty.

Saved Mrs. Rennie's Life.

Mrs. Jennie Rennie of Virgil, N. Y., had been sick for a year or more with overflow of the gall and ulcers of the stomach. Her physician told her she could not live. Mrs. Rennie's mother had found such benefit from the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, that she persuaded her daughter to use it, which she did, with result that it cured her of these diseases, and she says she was never as well as now.

Against Moths.

Glazed holland, brown holland, or any shining and cheap lined surface is an excellent material for lining the walls of your "woolen closet." Even the dust does not adhere to the walls as it does to more absorbent cotton or paper. A tallow candle wrapped in brown paper seems to hold its own as preservative to woolen packages done up with this small roll, but nothing does any good if clothes are put away with moth eggs in them. When you find any shiny place or a place that looks as though a mere film of cobweb had caught there, that means a nest. Apply the just-wet towel and hot iron over it, and the tiny moth baby will be killed with the steam before it has had time to eat its way out.

Card of Thanks.

I hereby desire to extend to all of my friends my thanks for the many kindness extended to me during my past illness of over three months from rheumatism, and I especially desire to tell them that but for Sulphur Bitters I should have been suffering still. May you never suffer what I have, is the wish of your friend, B. H. Tayleur.

Pittsburger Killed in Arkansas.

Pittsburg, Aug. 13—A communication dated Springfield, Ill., Aug. 11, and signed "Bill Whelan, of South Poplar Bluff, Arkansas," received in Pittsburg today, contains information leaving little doubt that Thomas D Thompson, a young man well known and well connected in Pittsburg, was killed on July 14, near Popular Bluff. The writer states that he and Thompson were roaming over the country, and concludes: "Thompson and I were attacked by a bear. Thompson was killed and I think was eaten by the bear." No direct word has been received from Thompson by his friends for about two months.

Ripans Tabules: one gives relief.

FROM CAMP CRAWFORD.

Some High Old Times Being Engaged in by the Soldiers.

Gettysburg, Pa. August 14.—The soldier boys in Camp Crawford of the Pennsylvania National Guard had a splendid day. The sun has been warm, but it whipped the big parade and brigade head quarters into splendid shape. The turf is as springy as a sponge and when the governor's review occurs on Thursday there will be practically no dust to discomfort either the military or the spectators. The day has been without any particular event beyond the inspection of the First brigade.

General Schall ordered out the First regiment, under Colonel Bowman, at 9 o'clock and this was followed by the Second regiment under Colonel Porter.

Within ten minutes after the regiment had formed for the inspecting officers, two men were prostrated by the warm sun and were carried away by the ambulance corps and before the work was over a number of others also fainted from the heat. None of the prostrations are believed to be serious.

The Third regiment turned out under Colonel Morrell at 1 p. m., and was followed at 3 o'cleck by the Sixth regiment.

Governor Pattison was present at the inspection but took no part therein.

During the inspection of the First brigade the City troop, the Governor's troop and the Sherdian troop drilled as a squadron under the direction of the United States cavalry officers. The artillery was also put through battery drill this morning.

This evening at 6 o'clock the various regiments gave the usual dress parade.

Governor Pattison said to-day that neither the president, the secretary of war nor General Schofield will be in camp unless something unexpected turns up. In fact none of the high officers of the regular army will be on hand, so far as the governor knows, although all were invited. They decline on the plea of duties and other engagements which require their presence elsewhere. In consequence of the inability of the president, Secretary Lamont and General Schofield to come here governor's day has been fixed for Thursday, on which day the great inspection review of the division will be held.

The clash of authority between the regulars and the provost guard, which has been one of the exciting, but unpleasant features of the camp, was settled to-day on the arrival of Major Bell, who has charge of the Seventh United States cavalry. The regulars who caused the trouble and interferred with the provost guard were connected with the cavalry, the artillery giving no trouble.

Colonel Green is determined to preserve discipline if he has to arrest a whole regiment. In fact the provost guard last night did arrest almost a company of guardsmen, who were fighting the battle of Gettysburg over again in the battlefield hotel bar-room, near the cemetery. They were composed of members of the Fifth and Sixteenth regiments and the fight was short but lively.

The police force attempted to quell it, but were ignominiously routed. Then the sheriff called on the provost guard, who charged the fighting guards on a run, captured and locked them up, to-day the men were severely reprimanded and put to work cleaning up the woods.

Ex-Senator Sloan Dead.

Indiana, Aug. 12.—Ex-State Senator Hannibal K. Sloan, Democratic candidate for congressman-at-large, died at his residence here yesterday forenoon at eleven o'clock. The cause of death was pneumonia.

Hannibal K. Sloan was born September 4, 1838, at Indiana. He was educated in the common schools and the academy of Indiana; was engaged for some years at manual labor, a greater portion of the time in charge of engines in mills, and then read law in the office of H. W. Wier. The war of the rebellion breaking out prior to Mr. Sloan's admission to the bar, he enlisted and was elected second lieutenant of Company B, Eleventh regiment, Pennsylvania Reserve corps, being afterwards promoted to first lieutenant and captain in the same company and regiment and brevet major, United States volunteers. Mr. Sloan resumed the study of law in 1866, was admitted to the bar in 1867 and was actively engaged in the practice of his profession. He was elected to the house in 1871 and to the state senate in 1888. He was nominated for congressman-at-large at the democratic convention at Harrisburg on June 27 last, and his death causes a vacancy on the state ticket that will be filled by the state committee.

Protection Wanted for Game.

The state sportsmen's association, which numbers over 4,000 members has organized a systematic movement to secure the enactment of a law at the coming session of the legislature for the better protection of furred and feathered game. Seven thousand copies of the game bill which failed at the last legislature have been sent to sportsmen through the state with the request that suggestions with regard to changes be forwarded to the association at its annual meeting to be held at Wopsonock, August 21-24.

A vigorous effort will also be made to secure the passage of a law creating a state game commission with powers similar to the state fish commission. It is also proposed to ask the legislature for a small appropriation to introduce, under the direction of the commission, game birds such as Mongolian and other tropical pheasant which experience has shown will become naturalized in temperate regions. In New Jersey and other eastern states these pheasants have been introduced successfully. In South western Pennsylvania several varieties of these birds have been liberated and they are multiplying very rapidly.

The Democratic Convention.

Philadelphia, Aug. 14.—The Democratic State Executive committee will probably fix on Wednesday, September 12, as the time for the reconvened state convention which will fill the vacancy caused by the death of ex-Senator Sloan, one of the two nominees for congressman-at-large. Possibly the duty of nominating another candidate in the place of ex-Judge Bucher, of Union county, the other nominee for congressman-at-large, will also devolve upon the convention, as it would not be surprising to any of the state organization leaders if he should take advantage of the opportunity offered him to decline his nomination without causing any greater inconvenience to either the state committee or the convention delegates than is necessitated than by filling the Sloan vacancy. Mr. Bucher's intention, however, is known to the state committeemen.

—The Whisky Trust is the richer for having paid the old internal revenue tax on 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 gallons of spirits and saved the 20 cents a gallon added by the new bill to the old rate. This is a neat profit of from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, less the cost of carrying the whiskey until it goes into consumption. This is a great year for trust.

Mr. Kerstetter's Suicide.

The sad death of Harry E. Kerstetter, which was chronicled Friday, says the Huntingdon Local News, was the direct result of his folly. He had been too intimate with a woman other than his wife and an exposure being imminent he made a confession to his wife, Supt. Patton, and others. The matter preyed upon his mind all day Thursday and he paced the floor all of Thursday night in a distracted manner. His wife tried to pacify him, and early in the morning she went to the house of Mr. Poschman, a friend and fellow officer of Mr. Kerstetter, to have him come to the house to do what he could to calm the mind of her husband. During her absence Mr. Kerstetter took the gun and went to the stable at the rear of his residence and committed suicide as related.

When Mr. Poschman arrived at the house he found Mr. Kerstetter had gone, and he went to the stable door, when he saw the body on the floor and was astounded at the sight. He at once notified several neighbors, who came and viewed the remains and notified 'Squire Edwards.

The deceased was a sober, industrious citizen, held in esteem by all who knew him. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Washington street near 14th, this afternoon at 5 o'clock.

THE HAWAIIAN QUESTION.

That Matter Came Up Before the House Yesterday.

Washington, August 9.—The Hawaiian question came to the front again in the house to-day, forming the subject of the most spirited and interesting portion of proceedings. Mr. Boutelle raised it as a question of privilege. He repudiated the reported imputation that in introducing the resolution recognizing the Hawaiian republic he had sought to obtain a partisan advantage for the republican party, but that he was desirous only of maintaining the honor and dignity of the government, and of observing the unbroken traditions of the country and of congress. He criticised the failure of the committee on foreign affairs to act upon his resolutions, and denounced the Hawaiian policy of the administration, especially the last act, which he described as the grudging, halting, secretive recognition of the republic of Hawaii by the president.

Mr. Boutelle was describing the secretary of state in carrying out his part of the plan as "Sneaking into the lobby and privately communicating the act of the president to the chairman of the committee on foreign affairs," when he was called to order by Mr. Onthwaite, democrat, of Ohio.

Mr. Boutelle said that he desired to proceed only in order that if the speaker would rule that the expression went beyond the parliamentary proprieties he would withdraw.

Speaker Crisp said that Mr. Boutelle had gone beyond the limits of the matter of personal privilege. Mr. Boutelle insisted that he had stated that the matter was a question not only of personal privilege, but of the privilege of the house, and asked the speaker to rule upon that point.

The Speaker—The chair rules that the gentleman is out of order.

Mr. Boutelle—Oh, the speaker can refuse to hear.

Before taking his seat, Mr. Boutelle unsuccessfully endeavored to get unanimous consent to move that the committee on foreign affairs be discharged from the further consideration of his resolutions, and that they be considered by the house.

The bill to increase the efficiency of the militia came up again, and gave rise to a discussion in which the recent riots at Chicago were referred to. Mr. Fithian, democrat, of Illinois, criticised President Cleveland's order sending federal troops there, while Mr. Cannon, republican, of Illinois, vigorously defended it. No action was taken on the bill.

Most of the session was occupied by virtue of a special order, in considering private claims bills. Six of these were passed, after which the house at 4.50 adjourned.

Decrease in Gross Receipts.

Patriot: The semi-annual reports to the auditor general's department for the first six months of the current year show a material decrease in the gross receipts of the corporations doing business in the state over the same period of last year. There remains in the department for settlement only eight or nine capital stock and loan reports for 1893. These were delayed by pending decisions in the supreme court, and also in a measure by the department requiring data to show whether the institutions holding some of the loans were as the class designated as "purely public charity." The failure of the supreme court to decide the well-known "Riser cases" at its sitting in Philadelphia last month requires many corporations to take appeal that otherwise would have been avoided.

Pension Figure.

The report of the pension agent at Pittsburg, for the year ending June 30, 1894, has been made public, and gives some interesting figures. The total amount paid pensioners was $6,591,170,18 and it was received by 45,773. The number of pensioners dropped from the rolls during the year, mostly on account of death, was 2,178. There are yet two daughters of revolutionary soldiers on the rolls: Susanna Chadwick, of Cameron county, and Sarah C. Hurlbutt, of Chatham Valley, Tioga county. One receives $25 a month, and the other $12. There is one 1812 pensioner, Daniel Mickley, of Waynesboro, Franklin county, on the rolls. There are 144 Mexican war survivors, 110 widows of Mexican veterans, 3 survivors of Indian war veterans. The number of pensioners outside of Pennsylvania who receive pensions through the Pittsburg office is 8,974.

Mountain Miners Resumed Work Yesterday.

Between 300 and 400 men went to work in the mines of the Altoona Coal and Coke company at Kittanning Point, the East End Coal company at Bennington and the Henrietta Coal Mining company at Dulo, yesterday morning. These three companies are all operated by Altoona men and have not been worked since April 19, just sixteen weeks yesterday. The resumption of work by the mountain miners is the result of declaring the coal strike off. The strike resulted rather disastrously to some of the men at the above mines as they went to work yesterday for 35 cents net ton, whereas prior to the strike they were receiving 40 cents per net ton.

Points to Remember.

Three good points to remember are the following. Always encourage home talent when it stands ready to establish an enterprise that will build up the town. Never attempt to raise money to secure more enterprises than the town can afford to part with. Always look on the bright side of the town's out look. Never predict anything but prosperity. Well men often die because they believe they are suffering from some wholly imaginary ailment and a good town sometimes retrogrades simply because of the croaking of calamity howlers. Say nothing if you cannot say a good word for the town, but keep on sawing the town's wood.

Mining Safer Than Railroading.

Railroad accidents are less this year than last, but they are scandalously high; higher in the country than in any country in the world, far higher than they are even in new countries like Australia and Canada.

Who would believe that a coal mine is a safer place for employees with less accidents than a railroad? Yet the "Colliery Engineer" shows that it is. In the anthracite coal mines in 1892 there was one fatal accident to every 311 employees and one non-fatal accident to every 125 employees. The bituminous region in this State had a fatal accident to every 588 employees and a non-fatal accident to every 281 employees. Taking both together the fatal accidents were one to every 378 persons employed and the non-fatal one to every 153.

Coal mining with this risk is deemed dangerous, and it is more dangerous in this than in other State. But see how risky railroading is. In the fiscal year 1892 on railroads one man was killed for every 320 men employed and one man injured for every twenty-eight employed. Taking train hands alone and there was a death to every 115 employed and an accident to every ten. Taking all those employed on railroads, and so far as loss of life goes a miner's chances are a sixth better and of injury five fold better than a railroad employee's. Over one-half the railroad men also are of clerical work. Confining the comparison to train hands and bituminous mining is 5.1 times safer than railroading and anthracite mining is 2.7 times safer as far as death is concerned. As far as the risk of injury goes an anthracite miner is 12.5 times safer and a bituminous miner is 58.8 times safer.

This is scandalous. If it was the same the world over there would be nothing to be said. It is not. Our roads by neglecting safety appliances make railroading far more hazardous than mining, one of the most dangerous of pursuits. It is not elsewhere. One thing more. Mines are under a strict Government inspection. So are railroads abroad, where accidents are less. These facts are a powerful argument for Government inspection here. It will come as sure as fate and as worrying as the itch unless railroad men themselves reduce the ratio of accidents among railroad employees.

Prothonotaries all Right.

A few days ago the secretary of the commonwealth addressed a communication to Attorney General Hensel asking him to be advised as to whether affidavits to nomination papers and certificates of nomination made before prothonotaries and clerks of the courts should be rejected as manifestly defective. Chairman Gilkeson, of the republican state committee, notified the state department that such papers would be regarded as invalid. He took the position that prothonotaries and clerks of the court were not qualified to administer oaths except in matters relating to the courts.

Attorney General Hensel yesterday decided that the act of June 10, 1893, requires only that these affidavits shall be made before an officer qualified to administer oaths. He says: "By the terms of the act of 1859 (P. L. 194) prothonotaries and commissioned clerks of courts of this commonwealth have a general power to administer oaths and affirmations. Affidavits made before these officials are sufficient for the purposes of this act, and I advise and instruct you that certificates and nomination papers of this character should not be rejected as manifestly defective."

Writing on the Walls.

In ancient times if a man had any announcement to make he used to write them in crude characters on the walls. If he didn't want many people to notice what the announcement was he wrote it very high, but if he desired to give it some publicity he wrote it where the people could see it. Nowadays, if merchants or others want to give publicity to any announcement, instead of writing it on the walls, they have it inscribed in printer's ink in the columns of a newspaper, where they are sure that everybody will heed and give attention. Thus it happens that the shrewdest and ablest merchants of Bellefonte, when they want to reach the buyers and payers in Bellefonte and vicinity, they advertise in the NEWS.

Sudden Death of a Priest.

An unknown man was picked up on the streets in Kane Tuesday, in an unconscious condition, and taken to Woodside sanitarium. About ten minutes after he was there he died. From papers on his person, he was discovered to be a Catholic priest, but his home or resident was not learned and a telegram concerning him was sent to Bishop Mullen at Erie. Apoplexy was the cause of his death.

SERIOUS COLLISION.

Accident on a Trolly Road at Hazleton Yesterday Morning.

Hazleton, Pa., Aug. 9—A very serious collision took place on the trolly road this morning but, considering the number of casualties and the damaged condition of the cars, the fact that no one was killed outright seems remarkable. An open car started from Hazleton with fifteen passengers. At Harleigh it took on a few more and started for Ebervale, where it took a side track to wait for a car from Freeland. After waiting ten minutes the car started out at a rapid rate, and a short distance above Ebervale collided with a closed car. The passengers on the summer car jumped to save their lives just as the two cars came together with an awful crash. The woman and children were picked up and a doctor summoned from Ebervale.

Wm. Ward, of Earleton, was caught between the cars and crushed about the body. Motorman Scanlon was badly hurt about the head, face and limbs. Mrs. McGreehan and daughter, of Ebervale, were thrown among the rocks and were cut and bruised considerably. Ralph Depierro, of Freeland, was cut and bruised about the head and face. Some fifteen others received bruises and scratches. The accident was due to the misunderstanding of the rules of the road.

A Pigtail War.

The failure of the Chinese to defeat the Japanese so far in the present war is probably due to the inability of the former to get near enough to use his cue, or, as the irreverent call it, his pigtail, against the hostile Japanese. If the two armies once come to close quarters and the Chinese can make use of his long wisp of closely braided black hair there may be a turn in the fortunes of the war, which now seem to be running so steadily in favor of the Japanese.

For, contrary to general belief, the cue is not wholly for ornament. Professor Isaac T. Headland, of the Pekin University, writes as follows of how useful the pigtail is: "If the Chinese is a carter he whips the mule with his cue; he makes a hat out of his handkerchief by tying it on with his cue; the father leads his little boy by his cue instead of by the hand; and the blind beggar is led by the cue of his boy leader; while our school boys, instead of suffering as I did for a string to strike an arc or a circle in geometry or trigonometry, strike an arc with their cue." This will change the opinion of a good many people as to the usefulness of this Asiatic appendage.

But on the other hand the pigtail may prove a weakness as well as a defense. The Chinaman values it as the dearest thing belonging to him, and he would as soon part with his life as with his cue. If a Japanese army on going into battle should raise the shout "Your cue or your life" it might strike terror to the hearts of the Chinese soldiers and start a route before a shot had been fired. Or if the armies came to close quarters the Japanese soldiers might devote their attention wholly to clipping cues and so confuse the Chinese soldiers as to cause them to turn pigtail and run. There is more than one way to do the most things in this world, and the hinese-Japanese war may prove that there is a way to fight battles without using bullet or shell.

The Recognition Of Hawaii.

At last the Administration has been reluctantly driven into a recognition of the Republic of Hawaii. It has resisted and evaded the acknowledgment of this simple duty escape was no longer possible. It had to choose in the end between acceptance of the inevitable and a refusal which even for itself was untenable, and which was in danger of invoking upon its head the open repudiation and rebuke of Congress.

What was the situation? By legal process Hawaii ordained a Republic. The Provisional Government had existed for a year and a half. It was stable, efficient and popular. But it recognized itself simply as provisional and instituted measures for the establishment of a fixed system and a constitutional government. In this way the Republic was created and regular authority resting upon the popular will took the place of the provisional machinery. Under all precedents and by every dictate of sympathy and interest our Government should have hastened to recognize it. But with the fatuity and perversity which have possessed it on this subject, it held off and yielded at last only when Mr. Boutelle's resolution forced its hand.

This tardy and reluctant recognition is due to the vigor, earnestness and persistence with which Mr. Boutelle has pressed this demand. The Committee on Foreign Relations had staved it off for a time, but could not stave it off altogether. The time had come when it must be squarely faced, and even a cuckoo Committee could not be so completely un-American as on a direct issue to refuse recognition to a new member of the sisterhood of Republics in the American hemisphere. The Administration was confronted with the danger of being rebuffed by a committee of its own party, and then the Secretary of State hastened to the Capitol to announce the surrender and to forestall the rebuke.

The Republic of Hawaii is thus established and recognized. It holds its place among the nations of the earth, and it will stand independent and secure during this Administration. It will stand until the United States has a Government wise enough and patriotic enough to accept the Hawaiian proffer to become a part of the American Republic. The present government of Hawaii is recognized as the rightful authority of the nation. No one would dispute its power to enter into negotiation for the cession of the islands. But it is practically the same government which made the proposal of annexation. It has vindicated its title and its right by its unresisted maintenance of authority; and it is made clear that this Administration has upon its shoulder the sin of rejecting an offer of annexation which came from the legitimate and responsible authority. It leaves the glory and advantage of such an acquisition to its successor.

To Recover Their Timber.

The West Branch lumberman's exchange of Williamsport will enter suit in the courts of Dauphin and Cumberland counties to recover the timber that was swept away by the recent flood and which has been taken by people living along the river.

The Williamsport Sun says that the lumbermen during the recent freshet had swept from them not less than 180,000,000 feet of saw logs and about 20,000,000 feet of manufactured lumber, which line the Susquehanna river from Williamsport to the Chesapeake bay. The valuation of this lumber is fully $3,500,000 to the lumber sufferers and they think it hard that their loss should be increased by parties living along the stream who have no claim to the lumber whatever.

The Surprise on Him.

A Shamokin man was saving up enough money to take he and his wife on a trip their former home across the waters, and was hoarding his savings and putting them in a bed tick, intending to surprise his wife. The wife was cleaning house the other day and concluded the old tick had seen its service and burned it, as well as the $175 saved up, and the trip has been indefinitely postponed.

A HORRIBLE ACCIDENT.

A Former Bellefonter Blows Out His Brains.

The rumor on the street Friday that Harry Kerstetter, formerly of this place, but now of Huntington, had committed suicide proved correct, and from the Huntingdon News, of Friday, we take the following particulars: This community was shocked this morning by the announcement that Harry Kerstetter, the well-known boss blacksmith at the Reformatory, had committed suicide at his residence on Washington street, near 14th. Investigation proved the truth of the report. We paid a visit to the scene of the tragedy, which occurred in a stable at the rear of the premises, and the sight was a sickening one. Mr. Kerstetter was up at an early hour, and was acting so strangely that his wife became alarmed and shortly after 5 o'clock went over to Smithfield to notify some of his fellow officers at the institution, and seek their aid. In the meantime Mr. Kerstetter procured a double-barreled shot gun into which he placed two shells and about half-past-six o 'clock repaired to the stable placed the barrel to the side of his head and pulled the trigger. The shell was heavily loaded, and the discharge literally blew the top of his head off, scattering brains, pieces of skull, flesh, etc., all over the side of the building.

In the absence of Coroner Harmon Justice of the Peace L. E. Edwards was notified of the occurrence, and after viewing the body and learning the particulars decided that an inquest was unnecessary, and directed that the body be removed.

As the cause for the deed, we could learn of none, his wife not having yet returned home, and the neighbors having no knowledge of any trouble of any sort.

Mr. Kerstetter was a large man, was aged about 45 years, and came to this place from Philipsburg, Centre county, some five years ago, to accept the position he has since held at the State Reformatory. He was twice married and is survived by his wife and one son, the latter residing in Centre County. He was a member of the Odd Fellows fraternity and held the office of Noble Grand in Lodge No. 117 of this place. During his short residence in this place he made many acquaintances, and his sad and untimely death will be a shock to many, not only here but at his former home.

A New Coal Opening.

We are glad to know that Mr. Harry T. Cooke, of Woodland, intends coming to Philipsburg to live, having leased the Meadow Brook mines recently opened on the Goss farm, near Blue Ball, by his father, Mr. John Cooke. The coal is of fine quality, and long before the coal industry became so prominent in the Clearfield region the Goss coal was famous for its superiority as a domestic coal. Mr. Cooke is a very agreeable young gentleman, who will be an addition to our town socially, and as an enterprising business man, we give him a cordial welcome.—Philipsburg Ledger.

Eleven Years in Charge

Of the package department, Boston & Maine Depot, Boston, Mass. Miss Helen Jones says: I was a sufferer from general debility, billousness, and water brash for several years, and life seemed almost a burden to me After using almost everything, Sulphur Bitters cured me.

The Captain

Of good Ship Storm King says: For the past five years I have used Sulphur Bitters on board my vessel, and have not lost a man. They are a sure preventive of all contagious fevers so incident to warm climates. Please send me at once two dozen bottles, and oblige J. Starret.

SULPHUR BITTERS

The Best and Purest Medicine EVER MADE.

It will drive the Humor from your system, and make your skin clean and smooth. Those Pimples and Blotches which mar your beauty are caused by impure blood, and can be removed in short time, if you are wise and use the great blood purifier,

SULPHUR BITTERS. Why suffer with Boils? Why have that terrible Headache? Why let sour stomach, biliousness or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. AN ADVANCE LETTER.

Received from the Camp Grounds at Newton Hamilton.

The outlook for a large attendance at the Juniata Valley camp is quite up to the past. Already one hundred and ten tents are occupied, and daily arrivals are numerous. Presiding Elder Rev. J. Max Lantz, D. D., is quartered in the administration tents and is in good spirits with reference to the approaching meeting. Rev. J. Ellis Bell conducted a song service in front of his tents last evening at half-past eight till 9 o'clock. That veteran camp-meeting singer, Fletcher Meek, took a prominent part and displayed his old-time enthusiasm and skill in leading sacred concerts. Eleven tents are occupied by Altoonians, with more to follow. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Huff spent Sunday with their friends Mr. J. W. Webber and daughter. He did the agreeable on his return to Altoona by sending a basket of fruit to his host, and as a result quite a good number of campers have had a good taste in their mouths.

Judging from the size of Lawyer Ambrose's mail his business is up to the average and his family are having a delightful outing at the same time. From this on he will have a formidable rival in the person of Hon. J. A. McKee, of Lewistown, who, with his family, arrived to-day.

Colonel J. K. Rhodes is found in his office from early in the morning until late at night answering letters and contributing to the comfort of the residents of this growing city in the woods. Miss Mary Clarkson is frequently seen in the pavilion, where the gentle breezes blow most constantly, and judging from the size of her manuscript, must be outlining her literary work for the new year. All in all, the dwellers in tents are a genial, happy company, and it is decided that there is no better place to spend a few weeks in the woods this side of Ocean Grove than at Newton Hamilton camp.

Colonel William T. Alexander.

Colonel William T. Alexander died on Thursday morning, at Clarion, in his eighty-second year. Col. Alexadder was born at Bellefonte, and was the brother of the late James Alexander and Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, of this place, of Mrs. Ann Fleming, of Lock Haven, and of Mrs. Emily Wright and Mrs. Jane Hagerty, of Clearfield. Deceased at one time lived here, and learned the trade of printer in the office of the Clearfield Banner.

He moved to Clarion about forty years ago, and commenced the publication of the Clarion Democrat, which he edited for twenty years. He was active in politics and represented Clarion county in the legislature for two years, and served two terms as County Treasurer.

He was well known to our people, visiting his relations here every summer. He leaves a widow to survive him but no children. The funeral was held on Sunday, the fifth, and was attended by Mrs. E. A. Bigler, Col. and Mrs. E. A. Irvin, W. A. and A. J. Hagerty, Mrs. J. B. McEnally and James B. Graham of this place.—Clearfield Raftsman's Journal.

A Disgusted Editor Quits.

A retiring newspaper man gives this philosophical reason for quitting the business: "A child is born, the doctor in attendance get $10, the editor notes it and gets 0; it is christened, the minister gets $4, the editor writes it up, gets 00; it marries, the minister another fee, the editor gets a piece of cake or 000; in a course of time it dies, the doctor gets from $5 to $10, the minister gets another $4, the undertaker $25 to $50—the editor publishes it and receives 000—and then the privilege of running free of charge a card of thanks.

Three From Pleasant Gap.

Mr. Abram Armstrong's mother is lying very ill at present. Although she is now past 60 years of age, it is to be hoped she will soon regain good health.

An infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sampsel, living near here died this morning.

The funeral of Mr. Samuel Noll occured this morning, and was largely attended. Interment was made in the cemetery at Zion.

The Nittany Valley Peach Crop.

For a number of years past the peach crop of Nittany Valley has been large and many of the finest peaches sold in this market came form this section. The prospects are that the crop this year will be light compared with previous years. One of the largest growers of the luscious fruit in the valley said to-day that the crop will be 2,000 bushels less than it was two years ago.

For Flood Protection.

Lieutenant Crosby, an engineer of the U. S. government, is expected to arrive in Williamsport next week and will begin the survey of the Susquehanna from Renovo to Sunbury, with the view of obtaining data to protect the towns along the river from future floods, Lieutenant Crosby will give his views to Major Raymond, who will then prepare an opinion on the subject.

Exports of Gold.

From the way that some uneasy writers talk about the exportation of gold it might be supposed that this is something that has never happened before. They seem to forget that in twenty-one out of the last thirty years the exports of gold from the United States has largely exceeded the imports, the total excess in that period being $461,622,000. They also forget that this country is a very large producer of gold, the product of our mines during this period having aggregated some $1,100,000,000, allowing one-third of this to be used in the arts, and deducting the exports, we have still a quite handsome addition to our domestic stock.

It is true that the net exports for the closing months of the last fiscal year were were much in excess of the average. They amounted during May and June to $45,500,600. But then, during May and June of 1891 they were $45,900,000, and this was after the McKinley bill had been passed and there was no tariff agitation on which to lay the blame.

These gold figures taken by themselves are not always plainly significant. Thus it would puzzle a mere party organ to explain why, during the years 1887 and 1888 the imports of gold exceeded the exports by $58,000,000, while the years 1889 and 1890 the exports exceeded the imports by $54,000,000. These were the two first years of the Harrison administration, before the tariff bill had been changed; yet in the next two years, 1891 and 1892, under the McKinley act, the exports of gold exceeded the imports by $68,500,000. Most of this excess, however, was in 1891, the balance in 1892 being nearly even. Then came the scare of 1893 when the net exports rose to $86,500,000, dropping in 1894 to $5,500,000. Just the figures of 1890.

To any one who will take the trouble to reflect over the conditions existing at these several periods it will be evident that no one cause is sufficient to explain the movements of gold. It will be also evident that an outward movement from a gold producing country like our own is not in itself a cause for alarm, though it is often a significant index that ought to be carefully studied, in connection with a great number of statistics without which the gold figures alone may be misleading.

It is certain that there will have to be rain soon and in abundance or the crops in this vicinity will be irreparably injured. The report comes from all sections of the state that potatoes and corn are suffering for want of moisture, that pastures are drying up, that garden produce is already greatly damaged, that late fruit crops are dropping prematurely, and that creeks, wells and springs are getting very low. The deficiency in the rainfall for the year is now over two and a quarter inches, but this does not measure accurately the severity of the drought. Most of the rainfall of the crop season came in May in a bunch. That month showed an excess of six and a half inches, but since then there has been a deficiency of about six inches in the normal precipitation. Pennsylvania is probably no worse off in this respect than most of the northern states, but this instead of relieving the situation only makes it worse. It is to be hoped that rain will come soon and in plenty.

Foster on the Weather.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from Aug. 10 to 14, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about the 15th, cross the western mountains by the close of the 16th, the great central valleys from the 17th to 19th, and the eastern states about the 20th. This disturbance will cause the principal rains of the month and the storm will be of more than usual force east of the Mississippi about the 18th or 19th. The fifth disturbance of August will reach the Pacific coast about the close of the 22d, the great central valleys from the 23dito the 25th, and the eastern states abont the 26th. Not much rain is expected from the storm wave. Warm waves will cross the western mountains about the 15th and 21st, the great central valleys about the 17th and 23d and the eastern states about the 19th and 25th. Cool wave will cross the western mountains about the 18th and 24th, the great central valleys about the 20th and 25th, and the eastern states about the 22d and 23rd.

If you want to get cured take Manners Double Extract Sarsaparilla. It's the best. Try it. 50 cents.

Kansas Crops Ruined.

A dispatch from Wichita says: Of all the droughts recorded in the history of Kansas not one wrought such havoc as that now prevailing all over the state. Its western third has sustained failure after failure of some of the standard crops and there has not been a fair yield of oats wheat and corn all in the same season once in seven years, but the present drought has proved more disastrous than any ever experienced.

A correspondent of the New York Times has just made a tour of the western and southern sections of Kansas, and found entire counties without so much as a wagon load of green stuff growing from the ground. Corn in some of the fine, rich valleys, which ten days ago gave promise of eighty and ninety bushels per acre, will not produce as much as a bushel on a hundred acres. Thousands and thousands of acres have not a green blade or a tassle of corn silk.

The great Arkansas Valley, one of the richest west of the Missouri river, with its great underflow of water, is to-day a vast desolate waste. Hundreds of square miles of fine crops have been burned up in less than three days and the corn stalks are scarcely worth cutting for fodder, and all blades will fall to pieces as soon as handled.

Many of the counties in Eastern Kansas will raise a fair corn crop, but some of the best corn sections along the Kaw river will not have a crop. The great potato crop for which the Kaw Valley is noted will not be seriously injured, as the tubers have attained about their full growth.

Birthday Celebration.

A very pleasant occasion occurred at Pine Grove Mills, Aug. 4th, it being the celebration of the 71st birthday of the venerable Joseph Gates. The children were all home to celebrate this birthday Ira J., wife and family, of Illinois; Laura A. Pifer and daughter, of Cedar Springs; Kate E. Erb, of Bedford City; John C. and family and Emanuel J. Reed and family, of Pine Grove, were all present for the first time in thirteen years. Mr. Gates was the recipient of a small purse of money as a gift from his children. His health is very poor, but it is hoped he may live to celebrate many more birthdays.

—A horse owned by Charles Levi a jew living on the pike north of town, fell over a 60-foot embanement by Morris' limekilns, and was killed.

—Owing to the very poor turnout of members there was no election of officers by the Bellefonte Board of Trade on Tuesday evening. The election will now be held on the first Tuesday evening in September, when every member should make it his business to be present.

—Now that Mr. W. T. Speer has retired from the Phoenix planing mill company, he will open up a sash, door and moulding establishment of his own in Bellefonte. Mr. Speer has been in the wood-working business for the past fifteen years, and he is known to have few equals and no superiors, as a mechanic in that line. We wish him unlimited success.

—The Pennsylvania railroad company has removed all the black coal dirt from their tracks at the passenger station in this place and filled the space up with ground limestone. This adds greatly to the appearance of that immediate vicinity. They are also considering the question of paving the place where the cabs stand with vitrified brick. This would be a decided improvement in the right direction.

—The contracts for supplies for the National Guard encampment at Gettysburg as approved by General Greenland, includes 7,200 pounds of beans, 10,000 pounds of sugar, 4,000 pounds of rice, 6,400 pounds of coffee, 2,200 pounds of salt, 140 pounds of pepper, three barrels of vinegar, 800 pounds of candles, 1,920 gallons cans of tomatoes, 3,840 cans of corn 3,000 pounds of soap. The Guard will fare well.

—On Saturday morning as Mr. Ed. Long, of Gum Stump, was going home from market in this place, when near the old Snow Shoe station at Central City, his horse and wagon were run into by part of the Snow Shoe train which had been uncoupled and allowed to run down itself. Horse, wagon and driver were thrown over an embankment into the pond. Some damage was done the wagon but neither the horse nor Mr. Long were much injured.

—A break in the coupling of Col. W. Fred Reynolds' carriage on Monday evening caused his team of spirited bays to run away, while the hostler was driving through Milesburg. The team ran into the side of the iron bridge crossing Bald Eagle creek and one of the animals was thrown over a twenty foot bank into the stream. Strange to say, the horse was injured very little, but the other one which ran on the bridge, was more or less cut and injured. The carriage was pretty badly wrecked, but the driver escaped serious injury.

—On Tuesday two boys, Will Scott and Andrew Bell, built a fire on a pile of saw dust near the old car shops and proceeded to roast some corn. When they had partaken of the feast thus prepared they departed without putting out the fire and the consequence was it burned up quite rapidly and had it not been discovered just when it was and put out by some passerby, a conflagration would have been the result which might have destroyed al the car works buildings. Boys, you should be more careful in the future where you build fires to roast corn.

—McCalmont & Co. are making arrangements to pipe water from the mountain for use at their limestone quarries and coal yards. They will build a reservoir on the Alexander farm, where there are a number of never-failing springs, and lay a one inch pipe from there to their works. The entire distance is about three thousand feet, or a little over one-half mile. They expect to be able to thus supply sufficient water for all their uses for mechanical purposes, for their stock at the yards and for all their houses outside the borough; and at a more nominal cost than it is supplied by the borough.

CENTRE COUNTY'S SCHOOLS.

County Superintendent Gramley's Report for the year Ending June 4, 1894.

I herewith submit my second annual report of the schools of Centre county.

That progress in certain directions was made even the most critical are compelled to admit. Wise legislation—free textbooks, increased appropriation, etc,—suitable apparatus and efficient school officers will certainly do much to add to the success of the schools, but the power that towers over all other agencies in enhancing the success of our school system is the teacher,—he is the one grand central figure from whom must go forth the inspiration necessary to make our schools a potent force for intelligence and morality.

Our teachers, in general, gave good work during the year; many have had the benefit of special training, and are skilled workmen—others by experience and close observation have overcome the lack of early normal training, and cheerfully relegate to oblivion the antiquated methods condemned by ideal educators. The unfitness of several was fully demonstrated, but could we expect anything else, when seventeen per centum of the teachers are novices? We do not wish to say, however, that all the inefficient work was done by the inexperienced; among the experienced are found some whose work is crude and whose methods are not progressive. Professional reading and training on the part of the teacher will do much towards perfecting our system of public schools. Successful teachers not only study the matter they are to teach, but they will also acquaint themselves with the best methods of giving instruction. A general weakness is manifested when the pupils are required to express their knowledge in well-prepared written forms. Composition in its manifold forms is too much neglected. Our two hundred and sixty nine teachers are commissioned as follows: One hundred and eighty-nine hold provisional certificates; thirty-four hold professionals; thirty-one hold permanents and fifteen have State Normal diplomas; and thirteen are college graduates. Forty-six teachers had no previous experience and one hundred and twenty-nine have taught five years or more. One hundred and sixty male and one hundred and nine female teachers are employed. Teachers' salaries have been increased in Bellefonte, Benner, Boggs, Centre Hall, Curtin, Gregg, Howard, Philipsburg, Rush, Spring, Union and South Philipsburg districts. The highest average salary in any district was $56.55—the lowest $27.40. With a few exceptions, the boroughs pay the better salaries, and their terms are considerably longer. The rate of taxation in the several districts varies from one to fourteen mills.

The following districts have built new houses during the year, or repaired old ones so extensively that they are practically new: Burnside, one; Ferguson, one; Haines, one; Halfmoon, one; Harris, one; Miles, two; Potter, one; Rush, one; Snow Shoe, one; Spring, one, and Walker, one. The house in Snow Shoe is a one-story, three room building, well supplied with improved furniture, and reflects much credit upon the directors under whose care it was built; the others are one-story, one room buildings, and also well constructed and furnished with good furniture. Many school grounds, however, still present a desolate appearance, and are, in consequence, uninviting and cheerless, instead of inviting children to school, will have an opposite tendency. Many out-houses are also in a deplorable condition, and have become public nuisances. Not only decency but the health and morals of the children require much improvement in this direction. Recent legislation requires separate buildings—one for the boys and one for the girls—well-built and far enough apart to insure decency. Let us hope directors will comply with the law on this subject, and then give notice to teachers that they are held responsible for the condition of the buildings during the term. Non-compliance with the provisions of this act will work a forfeiture of office on the part of directors.

The law compelling districts to furnish text-books and other necessary school supplies for use in the schools, has worked so well, that it is no longer an experiment. The predictions of the pessimist failed to materialize, while the expectations of the most ardent advocates of the measure have been more than realized. Books are better cared for than if they were the individual property of the pupil. One of our districts in which two thousand books are furnished, reports sixty-five per centum of the books "as good as new," and "no books are condemned as unfit for use another year, and none have been lost," We have better attendance and, in consequence, better organization, better classification and better teaching. Now let us add to this statute another law with proper limitations, giving us compulsory education, and it will be another step towards perfecting the school system of our grand commonwealth.

Our annual institute met in Bellefonte, December 18th, and continued five days. Its power for good as an educational force is no longer disputed by anyone but those who are too wise to learn. Nearly all our teachers were in attendance, and those who came to improve themselves and their schools, were benefited by the practical instruction given. The teachers were very punctual, and deserve commendation for the aid given to make the institute a success. Among the instructors and lecturers I may name Dr. Philips, Dr. Groff, Professors Swift, Twitmire, Hamilton and Perrine. State Superintendent Schaeffer very unexpectedly came upon us, and gave us an instructive address on "How shall we keep our teachers alive?" On Thursday, December 21—"Directors' Day"—quite a number of directors assembled in the court house, and were ably addressed by Dr. N. C. Schaeffer, A. A. Stevens, Esq., a member of the Tyrone school; D. F. Fortney, Esq., and others. This organization, I hope, will become a leading factor in the educational work of our county. It is with regret that it must be said, so many directors do not appreciate the good it may do, and, in consequence, do not attend its sessions. The same provision that is made for paying teachers to attend the county institute, should be made with reference to directors who attend their county association. Local institutes were held in various parts of the county. This feature of school work is developing and if properly conducted, will become a potent element for good. Nothing so well harmonizes all the educational forces of a community, as a well-conducted local institute.

Many items of interest, but local in character, will not appear in this report. Suffice it to say that we look into the future with bright prospects, continuing to believe that "public schools are the enduring basis of our county's prosperity.

C. L. GRAMLEY, Supt.,
Centre Co., Penn.

SCHOOL STATISTICS.

From Superintendent Gramley's statistical report we take the following as being of more or less interest to all our readers. Centre county is divided into 33 school districts. In these districts there are 200 school houses with a seating capacity of 12,920. There are 267 teachers in the county and the whole number of pupils enrolled 10,127. Of the 267 schools 104 are graded. Free text-books are supplied and the bible is read in every school in the county. Average age of the school teachers for the past term was 27 years. During the year Superintendent Gramley made 346 visits to the various schools, and every school was visited by the directors. The estimated number of children in the county between the ages of six and sixteen years not in school is placed at 528.

Feeman—Barry.

On Monday evening, at five o'clock, a very pretty wedding ceremony took place at the home of Mrs. Edward Barry, o. 20 Spring street, it being the occasion of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Barry to Mr. Frank Feeman, of Harrisburg. The house was beautifully arranged and the parlor handsomely decorated for the occasion, and promptly at the appointed hour the happy couple took their place before the waiting minister, Rev. E. M. Stevens, of Harrisburg, who at once performed the ceremony which united the two, "Until death do ye part."

The bride was dressed entirely in white and looked very lovely and charming. The groom was clad in the customary black worn by gentlemen on all such like occasions.

After the ceremony the friends present tendered the usual congratulations, which on this occasion were not merely a matter of form. A very choice and delicious supper was then served, and at 8.43 the bride and groom departed on the train for their future home in Harrisburg. We beg to join in heartiest congratulations.

From a "Raw Recruit."

One of the newly-enlisted members of Company B, has written home as follows, under date of Saturday, August 11th:

I am getting along fine and feel first rate. We arrived here last night about 7 o'clock Did not sleep very much last night, as I am not used to sleeping on boards, with just a blanket to lie on and your knapsack for a pillow, but I think I will get used to it. I have not been on guard yet and will not be put on before next week. We had battalion drill this morning. We had another drill at 3 and one at 6 o'clock. Have been running around the camp this morning, but was not outside the lines. Capt. Reber left the command at Harrisburg and has not yet reached Gettysburg and Lieutenant Reeder is in charge. I have not been thrown up in the blanket yet. We had bread, eggs and coffee, without milk or sugar, for breakfast. James Hughes is corporal of the guard today. We are encamped where Pickett made his famous charge. Right back of the Colonel's headquarters is the famous stone wall. To the east is the peach orchard, northeast is Seminary ridge and west is Little Round Top, the Devils Den, etc.

DEATH OF COL. D. S. KELLER.

Expires at His Home in This Place on Sunday Evening.

Another of Bellefonte's prominent citizens has gone to join the great and silent throng across the river of death. And, although it has been known by his legion of friends that his death was only a question of a brief time, yet it is none the less sad and painful. Col. Daniel S. Keller, after suffering with that dreaded disease of this northern clime for several years, died at his home on Linn street on Sunday evening abont 9 o'clock. Although so near the end for days that he could not speak above a low whisper his mind was clear and he remained conscious almost to the last. Everything that a loving family could do was done to prolong his life but the all—wise creator decreed otherwise and the ever kind and indulgent husband and father was called to his last rest.

Mr. Keller was aged about 49 years and leaves to mourn his loss a loving wife and five children, as follows: Harry, a Bellefonte attorney; Will, of Lancaster, Pa., and Daniel S., Lucy and John. Miss Martha, his oldest daughter, died a couple of years ago of diphtheria. The funeral will take place Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, interment to be made in the Union cemetery.

Daniel S. Keller was born near Boalsburg in October, 1844. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keller. His early life was spent on the farm in the summer and going to school in the winter time. Having received a common school education he attended the Roalsburg academy until August, 1862, when he enlisted as a private in Capt McFarlane's company, which afterwards became Company G, 148th regiment Pennsylvania volunteers. He served with distinction and in the battle Chancellorsville, May 3, 1863, was severely wounded, and sent to the hospital. His wound, even after healed up, leaving him unfit for field duty, he was detailed as a clerk in the wardepartment at Washington, where he served until in 1873. During his stay in the capital city he read law and took a full course at the Columbia law sthool, and was admitted to the bar in the District.

He came to Bellefonte in 1873 and was admitted to the practice of law in Centre county in 1873 and since that time up until his illness, he applied himself most assiduously to the practice of his profession. Mr. Keller was a staunch republican and once or twice as the leader of the party in Centre county. He was also a strong temperance man and it was under his leadership that the constitutional amendment campaign of 1889 was conducted when Centre county gave almost two thousand majority in favor of temperance. Col. Keller was a member of Gregg Post and also of the Masonic organization. In 1877 he was connected with the National Guard of Pennsylvania and was on Colonel Beaver's staff when the guard was called out to help suppress the great railroad riots. Mr. Keller was twice married, the first time to a Washington lady in 1867, by whom he had four children; she dying in 1875. He was married the second time, in 1878, to Miss Martha Schroeder, of Lancaster.

In the death of Mr. Keller Bellefonte has lost one of its best citizens—best in every sense of the word. A good neighbor, an able attorney, a kind and loving husband and father, and socially the most pleasant of gentlemen, his death will be mourned by a large circle of friends and acquaintances who knew him, but to love him. He was a member of the Reformed church and always lived a consistent christian life.

The Centre County Bar Association.

A meeting of the Centre County Bar Association was held in the court room at 9 o'clock this morning to make preliminary arrangements in reference to the funeral of Col. D. S. Keller. Hon. A. O. Furst was selected as chairman of the meeting. Clement Dale was made secretary. On motion a committee on resolutions was appointed consisting of Gen. James A. Beaver, C. M. Bower, Clement Dale, D. F. Fortney and John Blanchard. The committee was requested to have the resolutions prepared and to present them at a general meeting of the Bar and citizens to be held in the court house on Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. A committee consisting of E. R. Chambers, Ira. C. Mitchell and Ellis L. Orvis was appointed to make arrangements for floral designs. Gov. Beaver stated that on account of important engagements of long standing he could not be present on the day of the funeral and desired at this meeting to express his sentiments and respect for Co. Keller. He paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the deceased member of the Bar and of the high respect he had for him as a man, a soldier and a lawyer. After some general talk the meeting adjourned to meet in the court room on Thursday morning at which time the public generally is invited to attend.

Re-union of the 148th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers.

Mr. G. G. Walters, a member of company K, of the 148th regiment, Pa. Vols., has at the request of a number of his comrades of companies E, I and K, arranged for a re-union of the 148th regiment during the coming national encampment of the G. A. R. at Pittsburg. The re-union will be held at 9 30 a. m. on Wednesday, Sept. 12, in the Post room No. 117 G. A. R., Malta hall, Sheridan avenue, east end, Pittsburg. This hall is in the vicinity of the 19th ward school house where the Posts from Bellefonte, Lemont, Fleming, Pine Grove Mills, Centre Hall and Millheim will be quartered. It will be easy for the members of the 148th who belong to these Posts to attend this re-union, and and it is hoped that all who can do so will be present. We have no doubt that the fact that this re-union is to be held will stipulate the attendance of former members of the Centre county regiment at the national encampment. The western veterans of the regiment are extremely anxious to meet their comrades from Centre county.

Atlantic City Excursion.

Thursday, August 23rd, the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania will run its first, and so far as this season is concerned, the only excursion to Atlantic City. Leaving Bellefonte at 7.45 a m. Thursday morning in a special train of chair cars through to Philadelphia without transfer, passengers will be landed in Atlantic City at 7.00 p. m. A buffet car attached to this train will enable all so desiring to have dinner served on the cars. The Central officials have spared no efforts to give their patrons on this occasion everything in the way of comfort.

Tickets for the round trip will be sold from all stations, Bellefonte to Mill Hall inclusive, at the rate of $5.75, good to return on any train within the prescribed limit of fifteen days. Tickets also permit stop-off privileges at Williamsport and Philadelphia, both going and returning.

Here is an opportunity for our people to take a two-weeks' excursion in truly first-class style and at a rate of fare never before accorded to this region by any railroad. It remains to be seen whether Bellefonters will take advantage of this decidedly attractive excursion. We think they will.

The Banana Appreciated.

The banana is a fruit that possesses wonderfully sustaining properties. It is now fully appreciated. Yet years ago, in the warm countries where it flourished it was thought of so lightly that it was thrown to waste if not eaten by the cattle. It is true the plant itself was valued but simply as a shade for coffee trees, between rows of which it was planted. When in bloom the banana plantation is a sight of beauty, the buds and blossoms being gigantic affairs. In Cuba the fruit is reared with exceptional pride. The Spaniards used to regard the banana as a forbidden fruit, because they believed they detected in its heart the transverse section of the cross.

An Immense Lumber Camp.

The largest lumber camp of which there is any account was carried on under the general supervision of King Solomon during the building of the temple. In the temple. In the second chapter of 11 Chronicles it is stated that "he had fourscore thousand hewers in the mountain, threescore and ten thousand engaged in convey the timber to the temple and 3,600 overseers or bosses," making in all 153,600 men engaged in one single timber job. Compared with this, the great lumber camps of modern times dwindle into utter insignificance.

The DuBois Fire Department deserves great credit for their efforts to give the people a good time in DuBois on Tuesday, Aug. 21st. $500 in prizes will be given for races and different contests and no admission fee will be charged at the gate. It has been customary to charge a 50 cent admission fee to such attractions as they will give on that day. But, the ladies of DuBois raised the department $2000.00 last winter, by means of a fair, and now they are going to spend it to give the people a good time.
